THE PRESENT SITUATION.

Condition Hopeful--Special to Business Men--Organizing the Distribution Force--The Dead.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12--12 A. M.--There was no renewal of the fires last night, and nothing occurred to disturb the city. Gen. SHERIDAN has complete control, and confidence is fully restored. The Relief Committees are now thoroughly organized. At a meeting of the various Committees from other cities last evening, an appeal to commercial men and capitalists of the United States was adopted, urging them, in view of the overwhelming losses, individual suffering, and the pressing necessities, to watch their business in this hour of trial; to extend to them a generous liberality by compromise and extensions, and the largest possible advances of money.

THE BANKERS.

An adjourned meeting of the bankers of Chicago was held this morning. A committee was appointed to draft resolutions, which consisted of the Presidents of the Merchants' Loan and Trust Company, and others. The following resolutions were reported and unanimously adopted:

Whereas, This city has been visited by a conflagration surpassing in extent any recorded in the history of the world; and

Whereas, The banks have suffered no loss only as the business community generally; we feel that it is not to a peaceful adjustment of their affairs they can look for protection; while any attempt on the part of banks to enforce the payment of their debts would augment and intensify the wide-spread ruin and desolation which is upon us.

Resolved, That the banks of this city will open for business on Monday next, if practicable, if not, then at such time and place; that they will pay immediate installments of not more than fifteen per cent. in the case of any individual bank, and will continue to pay additional installments from time to time as they may be available until the entire liabilities are liquidated, if necessary; and that they look to the community to reserve a portion of their own means to furnish accommodations to surviving commercial concerns.

Resolved, That their assets can be examined and an inventory made public, that the Presidents and other officers receive and pay out deposits as trustees under the law.

Resolved, That the banks form a permanent organization for the purpose of devising means to meet the exigencies as upon us.

Resolved, That the overwhelming generosity of the world fills our hearts with wonder; our hearts are too full to express the gratitude that wells from the depths of every individual. We can only say "God bless the noble-hearted people of the world, and spare them from such a calamity."

The Franklin Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, suffers a loss of $600,000. They send word that they will pay in full. The reports that the Union National Bank had lost its money, papers, &c., is untrue. A large number of wholesale merchants are entering temporary quarters on Lake Park, directly on the lake front.

REVIVING BUSINESS.

The wholesale grocers held a meeting this afternoon, and agreed to ask no compromise with creditors, but only ask for time. They are determined to pay all their accounts in full. It has been ascertained from official reports that 80,000,000 feet of lumber were destroyed, leaving 24,000,000 feet still on hand. One hundred thousand dollars were subscribed to-day toward rebuilding the Chamber of Commerce on the site of its ruins, and work upon it will be commenced at once. Wholesale dealers in provisions, flour and lumber refuse to take advantage of the situation, but continue to sell their goods at the old prices. The same is true of coal-dealers who have any stock left. Temporary buildings are being erected in every direction, and by Saturday night there will be hundreds of houses ready for occupation. There is a marked change in the spirit of the people. The first feeling of utter prostration has given way to one of confidence. The burnt district is no longer an object of interest, save as to the situation of sites for rebuilding. Every business man who can find a shed in which to resume has begun business again. Country debtors are remitting their claims, and the insurance solvency becomes more and more promising. Business will be resumed as usual at the Live Stock yards to-morrow.

RELIEF OPERATIONS.

Mayor MASON issues the following appeal:

Clothing and all protection from the cold will be needed through the Winter as much as now. Send such articles forward in as large quantities as possible. Collect money and hold it subject to our order. Send in provisions that will keep; control them as you can before we can distribute them. All arrives liberally now, and we want to husband our resources as well as we possibly can, for a long Winter is before us and teaming will continue until our laboring classes are enabled to sustain their families.

R. B. MASON, Mayor.

The Relief Committee is now thoroughly organized, with O. E. MOORE, President, and DAVID A. GAGE, Treasurer. The Committee met in conjunction with the Council, and decided that all moneys should be received by DAVID A. GAGE. Probably 40,000 people were fed yesterday. Provisions are still coming in from all directions. J. W. PRESTON has general charge of the receiving of supplies.

The Masonic Relief Committee will issue a call to the fraternity to send money and cloth ing to D. C. CRAIGIE, Masonic Temple, Chicago.

Gov. PALMER has called the Legislature together. It will assemble at Springfield to-morrow. A committee from this city will go down to-night to suggest measures of relief.

Gov. HAYES, of Ohio, has been here for the past three days assisting in the good work. He issues suggestions to the people of Ohio to push energetically their efforts to raise contributions.

Hon. JOSEPH MEDILL, of the Tribune, estimates the number to be provided for during the coming Winter at 70,000.

THE DEAD.

Eighty dead bodies are now lying in the Morgue, mostly found on the North Side. It is certain that this is but a small portion of the number caught in the flames and utterly consumed. The Coroner, yesterday, held an inquest on sixty-four bodies. Only two of them were recognized--one, HENRY ULLMAN, a banker, and the other, PETER O'BRIEN. The body of the man who crawled into the water-main has been recognized as that of A. LECKSON, of No. 21 Michigan-avenue. Twenty bodies were taken from the basements of two buildings on the North side, near Church-avenue bridges.

GRANT'S ORDERS--THE CURIOUS WARNED OFF.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.--Lieut.-Gen. SHERIDAN has issued the following order:

HEADQUARTERS MILITARY DIVISION OF MISSOURI, CHICAGO, Oct. 12.

To His Honor the Mayor:

The preservation of the peace and good order of this city having been entrusted to me by your Honor, I am happy to state that no case of wilful arson or robbery has been reported; that no authenticated report of an attempt at incendiarism has reached me, and that the people of Chicago are calm and well disposed. The force at my disposal is ample to maintain order, should it become necessary to protect the district devastated by the fire; still I would suggest to citizens not to relax their watchfulness until the smouldering fires of the burnt buildings are entirely extinguished.

P. H. SHERIDAN,
Lieutenant-General.

CURIOUS PEOPLE WARNED OFF.

Gen. SHERIDAN makes an appeal through the Associated Press to the people of the country, to dissuade those who are anxious to visit Chicago from mere curiosity from coming. Thousands of this class are here now, without shelter or accommodation, and they must be fed and cared for the same as the sufferers.

THE NEWSPAPERS REVIVING.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.--The Republican this morning issued a half-sheet, and the Tribune an entire sheet, filled with advertisements and announcements of merchants' change of localities.

THE GOVERNMENT OFFICES.

The Collector of Customs at Chicago telegraphed Secretary BOUTWELL today:

"I have secured excellent quarters for every Government office in the city. Send immediately a supply of books, blanks and stationery sufficient to run all offices, and especially two fire and burglar-proof safes for the use of the Custom-house and United States Depositary. Cannot say whether the Government funds are burned."

It is estimated at the Internal Revenue Bureau that the Chicago fire will reduce the internal revenue receipts for the present fiscal year by $4,000,000.

THE MAILS FOR CHICAGO.

GEORGE A. WOOD, Superintendent of the United States Postal Service, issues the following notice:

To all Postmasters and Route Agents.--Make up no mails for distribution in Chicago, save only Chicago city mail. Throw all such into the postal cars and larger offices for distribution.

The acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue will take up all cases for refunding taxes, claimed to have been erroneously paid from Chicago claimants, immediately.

INCIDENTS.

A number of telegraph operators in this city were burned out of house and home. The operators of St. Louis have forwarded supplies of clothing and provisions, and Gen. STAGER, of the telegraph company, in order to prevent extortious being practiced upon the employes by grocers and others, ordered a car-load of provisions from Cleveland, which are now here, for their use.

In the private office of Mr. COWLES, the business manager of the Tribune, was a large Krupp shell, a relic of the siege of Paris, which exploded, making a breach in the walls fifteen feet wide, from the foundation to the roof.

ACCOUNTS BY MAIL.

The Story as Told by the Chicago Evening Post--Incidents, Narrow Escapes, Dangers, Privations, and Losses--The Brave Looking Forward--Fractionation by the Mayor.

We received, last evening, a diminutive sheet bearing the familiar name of the Chicago Evening Post, but very unfamiliar in its make up and general appearance. Yet it gives forth the same undaunted, cheery tone of old, and, editorially, speaks encouragingly, thus:

"The people of Chicago are in ashes and mourning; but they are alive with hope and courage. Only while their energies were employed in checking the destruction of their homes and business houses, were they tortured from the work of beginning again. Only yesterday it began to dawn upon the stricken, charred and hopeless ruin. Today it is almost itself again. Enough is saved to make a beginning; and a beginning every man, woman and child seems determined to make. On every side the hand of encouragement and sympathy is extended. To the business man comes the tender of material aid; to the sufferer, sympathy; to the hungry, food; to the naked, clothes. This daily will use the means placed in its hands. The need our columns sorrowfully tell. We rise on stepping-stones of our dead selves to higher, better forbearance. Let this be the sentiment, and it will be the capital, of the Chicago of the future."

The issue of the Post we have received is dated Tuesday evening, Oct. 10, but the outside pages are filled with matter from an extra issued on Monday afternoon, giving a general account of the conflagrations, the principal portions of which we reproduce in the following:

"We need not occupy room in relating the particulars of the great fire which occurred on Saturday night, and which the public thought a terrible disaster for the one or last night and Sunday. Then the fire was inextinguishable. The first-mentioned was a great blaze, destroying about twenty acres of buildings and lumber piles on the West Side, between Clinton, Adams and Van Buren streets, and the South Branch, and involving the loss of several lives. The scene of that conflagration was visited yesterday by thousands of curious spectators, who reviewed the scene of desolation with mingled sadness, little dreaming, however, that a similar disaster was in store for the city so soon--compared with which, that of Saturday night was as but the crackling of a juvenile bonfire.

"At about 9 o'clock last evening flames broke out in a small shed in Fergusan-street, near Jefferson, in the West Division, about one-fourth of a mile from the South Branch of the river. How those flames originated we do not know, though rumor has it that they were the result of incendiarism, and also that they sprang from a carelessly-used pipe or cigar. Be this as it may, the flames soon spread to adjoining buildings, and in a few moments more the entire Department was called out. A more unfavorable time to check and extinguish a fire has never been known in this city. The weather has for weeks been unusually dry, and becoming dryer every day. All the buildings were parched up, and in a fit condition to be consumed like tinder. A strong wind, amounting to quite a gale, was blowing from the south-west, and the rapidity with which the flames spread in a north-easterly direction was fearful. Despite the most vigorous efforts of the Fire Department, the lurid flames leaped from roof to roof and building to building, rapidly enveloping block after block in their consuming embrace. The efforts of the firemen, worn down and jaded as they were by the previous night's rough toil, seemed utterly inadequate to stay the onward career of the devouring element, and ere long it became apparent that the city was doomed to suffer the most appalling visitation of the fire-fiend that is had ever experienced. By the combined efforts of firemen, policemen and citizens the flames were kept from moving further west than Dearplaines-street, while the 'burnt district' of the Saturday night fire checked the fire from going further north on that side of the river than Van Buren-street bridge, which structure was speedily consumed, together with three lines of the bridges, lumber piles, &c., within the area specified above, the conflagration broke out afresh on the east side of the river. This sudden transfer of the devouring flames to the South Division was the result of the large showers of sparks and cinders which were carried across the stream by the gale, many of these lodging on wooden roofs, cloth awnings and other combustible material, and soon creating a sea of flame which sent consternation to many a brave heart.

"By this time, nearly the entire population of the city had been aroused, and the streets for a mile or two surrounding the scene of the disaster were thronged with excited, swarming humanity, and with all descriptions of vehicles pressed into the service for the hasty removal of household goods and personal effects. Every available conveyance, from a second-hand furniture-store, goods of all descriptions being loaded and unloaded here, there and everywhere, in promiscuous confusion. Invalids and cripples were carried away on improvised ambulances; aged women and helpless infants were hastily borne to places of temporary or permanent safety; people who were utterly overcome with excitement and fatigue were seen sleeping on lounges, trunks and bales in the streets; empty houses were forcibly broken open and taken possession of by homeless wanderers, made desperate by the awful surroundings--in some instances as many as five families tumbling into one and the same house. Such a spectacle was never before witnessed in Chicago, and it hardly has a parallel in the annals of conflagrations.

"After getting under complete headway in the South Division, the flames swept with terrible rapidity, and soon many of the most valuable structures in that division were involved in the general conflagration.

"About 2 o'clock in the morning the Armory, a large stone building on the corner of Adams and Franklin streets, was reached, and ere long from this structure the gingers caught the South Side Gas Works, on the opposite side of Adams-street. The destruction of this vast reservoir of gas, coal and coke was fearfully rapid, while the explosions created at frequent intervals sounded like the roar of artillery.

"By this time, it was evident that the Fire Department could make no headway toward subduing the conflagration, and that the flames were bound to have it all their own way. Building after building, and block after block, were doomed to the devouring element, and it seemed as if the entire city was doomed. Lofty elevators, huge railroad depots, majestic viaducts, vast yards of coal and lumber, palatial residences, elegant business blocks--in short, every species of structure not absolutely fire-proof--and there is scarcely one really fire-proof building in the city--were all in turn encircled by the remorseless flames, and speedily transformed into a mass of black ruins. The many thousands of spectators who stood at the Madison-street-bridge, and at other points on the west side of the river, and beheld that vast ocean of flame which extended from near Twelfth-street north to the main river, and east from the South Branch to the lake shore, will never forget the awfully grand and thrilling spectacle. It was something more than a huge conflagration which they gazed upon, it was literally and truly a city on fire. The area and the buildings then covered were equal to a large sized city--say of a hundred thousand inhabitants. And yet the fire fiend was destined to achieve still further conquests, as the sequel will show.

"Onward swept the sea of flame, remorselessly consuming everything which fire could destroy that lay in its path. And not only did the flames march northward and eastward, but they also made slow but steady progress southward, involving many of the finest residences on Wabash and Michigan avenues, and all the other buildings located between Harrison-street and the main river, in the South Division. Among the more prominent structures destroyed within this area besides dwellings, were the following: the Armory, the gas works, the Wabash-avenue Methodist Church, the St. Paul's Church, the First and Second Presbyterian, the New Jerusalem Temple, the Michigan-avenue Hotel, the Palmer, Bradley, Owens, Everett, Tremont, Sherman, Briggs, Metropolitan, St. James, Adams, Massasoit, City, Nevada and Clifton Hotels; the Chamber of Commerce, the Court-house and Jail, (which contained the offices and records of all the city officials,) the four principal telegraph offices, the Crosby Opera-house, McVicker's Theatre, Col. Wood's Museum, Hooley's Opera-house, the Dearborn Theatre, the Michigan Central and Union Depots, all the banks in the city except two small ones, which are located in the West Division; Farwell, Metropolitan and Crosby's Halls, several bridges and viaducts, and all the newspaper offices in the city except the Ledger office, which is located in the West Division.

"Would to Heaven we could say that the holocaust of flame ceased even with this long catalogue. But, alas, not even the main river proved a barrier to the devouring element. The glaring cinders borne by the fierce gale floated across the stream and lodged among the parched pine roofs of several structures nearest the water, and soon they were also wrapped in flames by which the power of the fire department and citizens could reach. And then commenced the dreadful ordeal in the North Division. The firemen worked like heroes, but all in vain. They were powerless to prevent the spread of the flames, and in less than an hour from the time they broke out on this side the conflagration became general. For a long time the principal scene of the fire in that Division was between North Clark-street and the lake, but by 9 o'clock this morning, the flames had spread into other localities, and at noon the whole North Side seemed doomed to destruction. We cannot take time and space, at this moment, to specify many of the most prominent and costly structures in that Division which were involved in the ruin; but most of our readers will comprehend the magnitude of the havoc when we state that the whole North Side is in ruins. Starting from the main river, the flames have been rapidly outreaching over that extensive and populous portion of the city till, at this writing, 5 o'clock P. M., the entire area, from the river to the Lincoln Park, and from the North Branch to the lake-shore, is a sea of literal flame and smoke. Of course, this includes acres on acres of dwellings, a great many of stores, shops and manufactories, several fine hotels, a number of the largest and most elegant churches in the city, several railroad depots, Rush Medical College, the North Side Gas-works, and scores of other buildings and institutions. And worst of all, the City Water-works are destroyed, or so nearly so that the supply of water is entirely cut off, which is the most appalling feature of the whole catastrophe, and well may it give rise to grave doubts as to whether this conflagration will, when ended, leave a dozen buildings unscathed within the city limits. Should the wind continue to blow from the westwardly direction, it is not likely that the flames will proceed much further than the point they have now reached. But should the wind change into the north-west, as it is likely to do at any moment, the whole West Division must inevitably share the fate of the South and North. Or should another conflagration break out in the western portion of the city, the consequences will be equally disastrous. It is to be hoped that every man, woman and child in the city will use the strongest exertions to prevent such a calamity from occurring, and see that another conflagration does not break out at this critical hour, when the Fire Department is used up and no water to be had. Let every one become a self-constituted vigilance committee, to guard against further disaster.

"We have striven to present the facts above given, reserving others for future issues. We must add, however, that before the city was out of entirely from telegraphic communication with the outer world, dispatches were sent to Milwaukee, Indianapolis and Detroit for aid, and from these cities have come fire-engines, policemen and other means of assistance; but all combined with our home forces are utterly powerless to stay the devastating march of the destroying element. As we write these words, dismal sounds like distant thunder greet our ears--they are the noise of exploding powder-magazines used for destroying costly buildings, in the hope of checking the onward march of the fire. And the sun is obscured from view by the thick, stifling smoke arising from many square miles of shapeless ruins; the cruel gale sweeps by with a dismal moan, as if chanting a requiem over the grave of buried hopes and prospects; and from burning structures more than a mile distant the dry, withering heat comes in from our office window, like the breath of a terrible furnace from an Arabian desert. We pause, throw aside our pen, and mentally inquire, when and where will this calamity end?

TUESDAY MORNING.

The inside pages are devoted to a general review of the field, and a brave looking forward to the future. We quote:

"The record of the last three days of terror and gloom mark an era without a parallel in the history of the world. This great calamity has destroyed not less than 20,000 houses, many of them the most substantial in America, and not less than $200,000,000. From Harrison-street on the South, to the river on the North and West is one vast ruin. The only building standing is the Lum block, on the corner of Randolph and Market, which looks like a gloomy monument in a graveyard. On the North Side, nearly everything is swept as far north as Lincoln Park, and east to the river, and parties who arrived in time to see its noble aspect from that direction describe it as a mass of ruins, with a dozen houses standing. The area burned over cannot be much less than three thousand acres. The desolation is the most complete ever witnessed. The intensity of the heat was terrible. Huge blocks of stone were crumbled to dust. The foundations disappeared almost to the bottom stones. The rails were picked up--though of peaste-board, and the huge beams of iron were warped and disappeared like straw. The vaunted fire-proof structures offered almost as little resistance as the humblest shanty and went in the common ruin.

REMNANTS.

Little is left of the city except suburbs, and these are all in a state of disorder. The crowded with fugitives and their extraordinary furniture in every fantastic attitude, that every out-leading avenue looked like a camp. All through the rainy night tens of thousands held their weary bivouac.

The loss of water is the greatest disaster to the people, who are coming and going to the lake and river with pails and tubs. The authorities have ordered that all artesian wells around the city be connected with the mains, and fire engines are pouring water from the river into the Adams-street reservoir. It is anticipated that the Water Works will soon be in operation, as the engines are not greatly injured.

Sheriff BRADLEY states that the county records, so far as he knows, have all been destroyed, but the abstracts have been preserved through the exertions of Messrs. CHASE, SHURTLEFF, and others. This will make the loss of the records a matter of no small serious consequence as it would otherwise be to the city.

The banks have all been burned down, but their safes are reported to be in good condition, and the valuable papers may be saved. The First National Bank, corner of Washington and State streets, will immediately be open, as some of its iron-proof rooms have stood the fiery test with remarkable success.

The Post-office, by order of Postmaster MARSHALL, has gone into active operation immediately at Burlington Hall, corner of Sixteenth and State streets. The Post-office officials are entitled to the thanks of the whole community for the promptness and energy displayed in saving and dispatching the mails. Nearly all the mail matter was rescued from the flames, and the only out-going mail missed was the Monday morning, which was sent out in the afternoon.

The bridges are in a sorry plight, with the exception of Kinzie, Lake, Randolph and Madison streets, all of which are in tolerably good order.

The tunnels have suffered considerably, and are extremely disagreeable to pass through, owing to the smoke which still continues to rise from the smoldering ruins.

INCIDENTS.

During the prevalence of the great conflagration there were many occurrences which were grimly humorous. While the exodus from the burning South Side was going on over Lake and Randolph street bridges, an undertaker rushed over with a part of his stock. He was accompanied by three or four boys, each of whom grasped in his arms a coffin--a mournful suggestion that something of the kind must be saved for those who did not survive the terrible visitation.

Going on a trot up Wabash-avenue, threading its way among the carts, we saw a hearse, bearing two happy children within the plated parallel bars, with a woman on the driver's seat, and a rocking chair, hoop-skirts and household utensils tied across the narrow top.

The public schools have all been dismissed, and the school buildings, as well as the churches, thrown open for the reception of the destitute.

Perhaps the most fearfully thrilling scene of the great conflagration was that in the eastern section of the North Division. When it became apparent that all hope of saving the city was lost, after the flames had pushed down to the main branch of the river, the citizens of the North Side, who were over to see the main theatre of the fire, thought it time to go into their own division and save what they could. Accordingly they beat a rapid retreat toward the tunnel and bridges. The former of these thoroughfares was impassable at 3 o'clock. Clark-street had not been open for some time, and State-street was in a blaze from one end to the other.

Rush-street Bridge was now the only means of getting away from the South Side, and over that bridge the affrighted fugitives poured in thousands. Their flight was not quicker than was the advance of the flames. The latter jumped the river with miraculous swiftness, and ran along the shipping section, from Dearborn-street to the North Branch, like lightning. So rapid was the advance of the fiery element, driven by the heavy gale from the south-east, that the people were glad enough to escape unscathed. Everything was abandoned. Horses and wagons were used merely as a means of flight. Few people in the direct course of the fire thought about saving anything but their lives and those of their families.

The conflagration having reached Chicago-avenue, took an east-ward turn and cut off from flight, northward, all who remained in the unburned section, lying between Dearborn-street and the lake. The inhabitants of that district flattered themselves that their homes might escape in the general destruction. But the fire was not to be cheated in that way. The gale changed its course in a few minutes more toward the east, and the entire quarter of the city specified became a fruitful pen, having a wall of fire on three sides and the fierce rolling lake on the fourth.

Then followed a scene which surpassed anything that ever took place on this continent. The houses were plundered in all haste. Everything was loaded with furniture, clothing and bedding. Mothers caught up their infants in their arms. Men dragged along the aged and helpless, and the entire horror-stricken multitude beat their course to the sands.

This region, which is somewhat notorious, stirs to much labor from North Water to Oak-st. streets, below St. Clair-street. They are of some width in parts, but all are filled more or less with sheds and shanties. Lumber was strewn around in all directions, and the flames had almost as much fuel to feed upon in the sands as any where else within the city limits.

At 4½ o'clock yesterday morning all the space allotted was covered with men, women and children, horses and wagons, trunks and baggage. Everything was in frightful confusion, and the terror of the women and children was manifested by heartrending cries and shrieks. Steadily the fiery enemy closed in on that mass of trembling humanity. At daylight all was burned down to St. Clair-street, and the heat on the sands became so intense as to be almost unendurable.

The West side now swarms with refugees from the other portions of the city. The streets west of Halsted, which were crowded all day Monday with the furniture and other effects of the inhabitants who had fled from the burned districts, present an appearance entirely in keeping with the terror of the occasion. Many of the refugees have already procured shelter--indeed, nothing but boundlessness of hospitality on the part of those citizens who still have roofs over their heads could have absorbed such a number of homeless wanderers.

Camp-street is now a thoroughfare. The tide of travel which burned northward from the remaining portion of the South Side naturally takes the first paved street west of the river, and the great procession of teams and people which turns northward from Twelfth-street, after crossing the South Side, passes over Canal. Many of the old business houses whose establishments on the other side of the river have been burned down, have already located on Canal-street, and eligible localities find ready market. The Tribune and Journal newspapers have been re-established at Nos. 13 and 15 Canal. The street, from Adams south for a long distance, is nothing but an embankment, the sidewalks having been destroyed by the successive fires of Saturday and Sunday nights, and the surrounding land being below the level of the street. This appearance is heightened by the stone curb walls on each side, which cause the grade of the street to stand out like a fortification.

INCENDIARIES.

Last night, soon after sunset, rumors of incendiarism, and violent deeds of vigilance committees, began to circulate. It was currently reported that four incendiaries had been killed in as many different localities--one at the corner of Madison-street and Western-avenue, one at the corner of Throop and Van Buren, one on Blue Island-avenue, and one near the Jesuit Church. These reports, of course, caused great excitement among the residents, and a partial panic was created. The citizens formed a volunteer patrol, and every house was watched by one or more of its inmates. One man was caught.

Two men were hung on Fortieth-street, last evening, who had made incendiary threats, and were shot on Ann, near Washington, for the same reason. We hope that whenever a citizen can catch an incendiary fiend attempting to fire a building, he will shoot him on the spot. That is the best way to dispose of such wretches at a time like this. Since writing the above we hear that a fellow in the remaining portion of the South Division, was caught trying to fire a building on Sixteenth-street, and hung to the nearest lamp-post. Next!

THE NEED FOR RELIEF.

We can assure the moneyed men of our sister cities that their gamble is very much. The number of people thrown out of employment, and the number of families turned out of their homes penniless and almost naked, can only be estimated by tens of thousands. The scenes hourly transpiring in our streets baffle all attempts at description. They are heart-sickening and blood-chilling.

In the name of common humanity, gentlemen of other cities, help the thousands of poor wretches here who must perish if not aided by those who have the means.

PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR.

Whereas, In the providence of God, to whose will we humbly submit, a terrible calamity has befallen our city, which demands of us our best efforts for the preservation of order and the relief of the sufferers; be it known that the faith and credit of the City of Chicago is hereby pledged for the necessary expenses for the relief of the suffering.

Public order will be preserved. The Police and special Police now being appointed will be responsible for the maintenance of the peace and the protection of property.

All officers and men of the Fire Department and Health Department will act as special policemen without further notice.

The Mayor and Controller will give vouchers for all supplies furnished by the different Relief Committees.

The head-quarters of the City Government will be at the Congregational Church, corner of West Washington and Ann streets.

All persons are warned against any act tending to endanger property. Persons caught in any depredation will be immediately arrested.

With the help of God, order and peace and private property shall be preserved.

The City Government and the committees of citizens pledge themselves to the community to protect them, and prepare the way for a restoration of public and private welfare.

It is believed the fire has spent its forces, and all will soon be well. R. B. MASON, Mayor.

GEO. TAYLOR, Controller. (By R. B. MASON.)
CHAS. C. P. HOLDEN, President Common Council.
T. B. BROWN, President Board of Police.

THE WORK OF CHARITY.

Contributions Pouring in from Every Quarter--Plans for the Relief of the Distressed.

The disaster by the Chicago fire continues to excite public interest, and every detail regarding it is read with absorbing interest. Contributions continue to pour in from every quarter. The gentlemen in charge of the relief funds are now seriously debating the propriety of awaiting definite details from Chicago before sending further sums, and are confident that the immediate necessities of the sufferers are supplied. The Chamber of Commerce, for instance, have sent on but a portion of the sum subscribed, and will retain the remainder to await further advices.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

An adjourned meeting of the Committee of One Hundred of this body was held yesterday. The following were appointed a committee to confer with the Government: Messrs. A. A. Low, George Opdyke, W. M. Vermilye, John Taylor Johnston, S. B. Chittenden, James M. Brown, Jackson S. Schultz, Henry Clews, F. T. Babcock, F. S. Winslow.

Mr. OPDYKE reported that cable dispatches had been received from European cities, promising aid. Mr. JESUP, from the Committee on Banks, reported that a meeting of bank officers, to take united action, would be held at the Merchants' Bank. Mr. SELIGMAN, of the Committee on Foreign Subscriptions, reported that he had sent dispatches to the Chambers of Commerce, and where there were none such to the Mayors of all the cities of Europe, asking contributions through the New-York Chamber of Commerce. EDWARD M. WRIGHT was appointed to solicit contributions from the cotton interest. Messrs. CHARLES LANIER and RICHARD BUTLER were added as members of the Committee of One Hundred, and the latter was appointed to call upon the fancy goods trade for contributions.

Mr. OPDYKE called the attention of the Chamber to the fact that the proper place to send checks is to the Chamber of Commerce, payable to the order of "A. A. LOW, Treasurer." Considerable discussion arose in regard to the offer of a tent capable of holding 4,000 persons, now at Indianapolis, which it was suggested should be accepted and erected in Chicago as a receptacle for supplies of food and clothing, and for the protection of women and children, to be under the direction and control of the New-York Chamber of Commerce. The matter was finally left to the discretion of the officers of the Chamber for decision. A cable dispatch from WILLIAM E. DODGE, directing his house to pay $10,000 on his personal account for Chicago, was then read, and subsequently a dispatch from JOHN BRIGHT to C. B. CHITTENDEN directing the payment of $500 for the same cause. A dispatch from ROTHSCHILD was read, announcing that BROWN, SHIPLEY and his house gave each £1,000.

The money received by the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce for the relief of Chicago will be placed in the Bank of Commerce, to the credit of A. A. LOW, Treasurer of the Committee, and not to the credit of LOW & SONS.

The subscription of $5,000 of Mr. C. P. HUNTINGTON was his personal subscription, and not for the Central Pacific Railroad Company.

Subscriptions for Chicago sufferers will be received at the Chamber of Commerce, No. 49 William-street, or by any member of the Committee. Checks may be made payable to the order of A. A. LOW, Treasurer.

ACTION OF FEDERAL OFFICIALS.

The Government officials and employes connected with the United States building in Chamberlain's rear have started the purpose of contributing toward the relief of the sufferers. Contributions amounting to $1,000 were received on the spot. District-Attorney DAVIS gave $250, and Gen. SHARPE $100 for himself and $100 for the attachés of his office. Liberal donations were also made by Gen. DAVIES, Mr. PURDY, Commissioners WEITZ and SHIELDS, and others. It was expected that the total would reach $2,000. The money will be sent to the United States District Judge at Chicago for distribution.

METHODIST ACTION.

The Methodist Preachers' Association met yesterday to consider measures of relief for the sufferers. Rev. Dr. CRAWFORD, presided, and Dr. ANDREWS was appointed Secretary. Mr. THOMAS, of Brooklyn, said he had received that morning, a telegram from Chicago stating there was a surplus of food on hands.

Mr. SQUIRES asked if it were true what he had heard, namely, that the Methodist block was burned down?

Dr. DIFFENDEF, of Newark, said the Methodist block was one of the most valuable in Chicago, and was largely insured. He mentioned the fact that the Wabash-avenue Church and other churches had been saved. Gen. CRAWFORD also said that the Methodist property had not suffered so much as was at first expected.

On the motion of Dr. BOTTOME it was

Resolved, That we recommend the pastors of the general churches represented in this meeting, with the concurrence of their official boards, to take collections in their respective churches, on Sunday, the 15th inst., for the relief of the sufferers by the fire in the City of Chicago, and that the proceeds be forwarded to the City of Chicago, to the Rev. Dr. NEWMAN, Esq., No. 805 Broadway, to be so forwarded by him.

The following is a further list of subscriptions received for the Chicago sufferers:

RECEIVED FROM THE PAPER AND BOOK TRADES

for thirteen years, during which time he was in close relations with thousands of laboring men, no one of whom could say that he had not been his friend and supporter, often against the determined pressure of politicians. If he could not pay their wages now due, it was only because the Treasury of the City had been exhausted and was empty when he came into his present office. He had already paid a large number of the men with money he had raised outside the City Treasury, by his own personal exertions, which money was advanced for the purpose by gentlemen who had the laborers' interests at heart. The Department of Public Works had spent all the money which had been appropriated for their use, and he was prohibited by the injunction of the Supreme Court from furnishing that Department with money if he had it. As it was, he would do the best he could to help the men to get their pay for the next pay-roll, and would inform them very soon what could be done for them.

The men thanked Mr. GREEN for his promise, and were about to retire, when the pay-rolls from the Department of Public Works were brought in, with a requisition for $50,000. The men supposed they were going to be paid at once, and returned, but on being informed of their mistake quietly retired. On reaching the Park, PATRICK WELCH addressed his fellow-laborers, telling them what Mr. GREEN had said, and advising them to wait patiently for their money, as nothing could be done by loud words or acts of violence. The men gave three cheers for Mr. GREEN, and in a few minutes afterward quietly dispersed.

There are said to be about two thousand of these creditors of the City, several of whom have received no wages for six weeks. The amount due on the September pay-rolls is about $50,000. Several of the men stated that on Wednesday night the bakers and grocers with whom they had been in the habit of dealing, informed them, positively, that they could give no more credit. The answer made by Mr. GREEN may, however, induce them to alter their determination. Many of the men declared that they had not a cent in their pockets, and that they did not know where to get the next meal for their families unless their bakers and grocers would trust them for it. During their demonstration yesterday, they behaved very quietly and talked very little. One man who proposed to force his way into the building was hustled by his fellows, and finally fell or was knocked down. He was not much damaged, however.

Discharge of Attendants in the Supreme Court.

Deputy Controller GREEN continued the work of reform and retrenchment among those attached to our Courts, yesterday, by removing in one batch eighteen of the useless attendants in the Supreme Court, whose salaries were $1,200 each. A number of officers attached to the Court of General Sessions are also to be removed.

Kennard & Hart's Stationery Bills.

Among the items of the report on stationery and printing, is that of over $180,000 paid to J. O. SEYMOUR, KENNARD & HAT for stationery and blank-books furnished the county in 1869 and 1870. Our reporter visited Mr. JAMES KENNARD at his office, No. 69 Liberty-street, yesterday afternoon.

REPORTER—I have called to inquire about the amount of stationery you furnished and moneys received by you; will you give me any information?

KENNARD—Well, all I can say is that we furnished what we got paid for, and got paid for what we furnished.

REPORTER—How much did you receive?

KENNARD—Oh! I can't tell exactly; something over $200,000, and we had to wait two or three years for that.

REPORTER—What did you furnish?

KENNARD—Stationery and the like for the Supreme Court, Superior Court, Court of Common Pleas, the Marine Court, Controller's office, the Surrogate's Court, Register's office, Board of Supervisors and County Clerk's office.

REPORTER—How did you come to get the job?

KENNARD—Oh! I got it.

REPORTER—But you couldn't get it without paying for it; how much did you pay?

KENNARD—I didn't pay anything.

REPORTER—Well, how did you get it?

KENNARD—In 1866 and 1867 I lived in the Ninth Ward, and was elected to the Board of Councilmen; in fact, I was mixed up in politics considerably.

REPORTER—Did you get it through political influence?

KENNARD—I got it, I suppose, through political friends.

REPORTER—Will you name them?

KENNARD—That isn't essential.

REPORTER—Yes, it is; the public want to know.

KENNARD—Well, ORSON BLUNT was one, and there were others. I received orders from time to time, and filled them.

REPORTER—Did you put in fair bills, or did you put in large ones and take what you could get?

KENNARD—I put in bills for what I did and waited for my money, and finally got it.

REPORTER—Who signed your warrants?

KENNARD—CONNOLLY, Mayor HALL and the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

REPORTER—The Committee of Seventy are after you. Are you willing to show your books and make a statement of your affairs?

KENNARD—Yes; whenever they want them.

REPORTER—You couldn't have carried that thing on two or three years without paying for it. Now, how much did you pay?

KENNARD—Nothing at all.

REPORTER—You must have fixed it in such a way that some of the Ring made money out of it. Now, just tell me how it was done.

KENNARD (after reflecting)—Well, they used to make me wait two or three years for my bills, then Watson would charge the interest to the City and keep it for a fixedon. I never got any of it.

The Broadway Bank Accounts—Important Revelations Promised.

The announcement was made in yesterday's TIMES that the Broadway Bank had thrown open its accounts with the City to the inspection of the Committee of Seventy.

Mr. SAMUEL J. TILDEN, who is engaged in the investigation, urgently requested a TIMES reporter yesterday not to divulge the progress made by the Committee, less it prejudice the object they have in view, and for that reason we withhold for the present any information as to the nature of their researches. Mr. TILDEN is sanguine of success in at last fastening the frauds where they belong. "Indeed, we will be successful," said he to our reporter, "and but a few more days will amply satisfy us, and develop more than has even yet been suspected." With this, and the coming report of the Sub-committees, the citizens of New-York may look for some important revelations.

The Court-House and Printing and Stationery Frauds.

The Subcommittees upon the Court-house and Printing and Stationery frauds are still actively engaged in the preparation of their reports. Their task is more than arduous, and to many other men its accomplishment would be an impossibility. Mr. BOOTH, Mr. DONALDSON, of the Bank of North America, Mr. PEARSALL, and others, have carried on their investigations with a praiseworthy energy, and in a few days will have completed their work and submitted their reports. A portion of one of the reports was exhibited to a TIMES reporter yesterday, but the publication of any of its details at the present juncture would be highly prejudicial to its perfection. Still it is safe to say that the public will be entertained, if not astounded, both by the sagacity of the Committees, and the extent of the frauds they have discovered. Notwithstanding the difficulties that have been them on every hand, they have succeeded in fastening the most flagrant robbery upon our late "rulers" and their aiders and abettors. As to the Court-house, they have carefully examined all the work done and the materials furnished, and have compared the amounts alleged to have been paid therefor with the estimates of well-known experts as to their value. The experts are unanimous in the opinion that the taxpayers have been frightfully swindled, and not a few of them have declared that they would have willingly undertaken the work for a very small percentage of the amounts paid for it to the favored few.

The Committee on Printing and Stationery have surmounted many of the obstacles in their path, and by patience and pertinacity have drawn their labors almost to a successful termination. In a few days all the reports will be furnished, and promptly given to the public in detail.

The Ingersoll Case—Judge Ingraham's Decision Reserved till Tuesday.

Yesterday the argument in the Ingersoll case came up for final hearing before Judge INGRAHAM, in the Supreme Court Chambers. The proceedings were commenced by Mr. BARRETT, who said: I don't think our friends by the force of the order to show cause are going to change the practice. If the other side want to reply, and if there is to be a reply to Gen. BARLOW by Mr. STOUGHTON, I ask you then to determine the affirmative here. We asked permission to examine a witness, we brought him here on an order, and they came here with an order to show cause after we moved he be sworn and examined as a witness.

Mr. STOUGHTON—Do I understand that the counsel have the reply?

Judge INGRAHAM—Mr. BARRETT says he has nothing to say.

Mr. STOUGHTON—I understood your Honor yesterday to say it was your intention to hear only one counsel.

Judge INGRAHAM—Yes, Sir, that is what I stated.

Mr. STOUGHTON—I have no desire to interfere with that practice, and I should be very sorry to press on the Court any observations of mine. If Mr. FULLERTON conceives that Gen. BARLOW has made any observations calling for a reply within the rules suggested by your Honor, I suppose he can be heard; but I certainly have so far tried to conform my professional views to the views of the Courts in which I practice, where professional action is concerned.

Judge INGRAHAM—I consider the motion before me a motion on behalf of the plaintiffs here to examine a witness. I consider you are opposing that order, and strictly speaking, you have no right of reply. You are the party who oppose their action, and as long as Mr. BARRETT does not wish to reply, I consider the matter closed.

The opinion of Judge BARNARD in the case of TOLEY vs. The Mayor, the opinion of Judge BRADY in the Court of Common Pleas, and the opinion of Judge BARRETT himself were handed in to the Court with the other papers.

Judge INGRAHAM reserved his decision, and adjourned the proceedings to Tuesday morning.

THE MANDAMUS SUITS.

Proceedings Before Judge Ingraham—O'Gorman's Elaborate Argument to Prove the Two Per Cent. Bill a Fraud—Address of Mr. Strahan—Affidavit of Mr. Green.

In the Supreme Court Chambers, yesterday, before Judge INGRAHAM, the order recently made directing Controller CONNOLLY and Deputy Controller GREEN to show cause why a mandamus should not issue against them, to provide for a deficiency of $600,000 claimed to be due on requisitions of the Department of Docks, came on for argument.

Mr. RICHARD O'GORMAN, on the part of the Department of Docks, explained the objects of the motion. He read the affidavit of Mr. WOOD, to the effect that in May, 1871, the Commissioners of Docks required the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to direct the Controller to issue $1,000,000 worth of bonds to carry on public works; that on June 20 and Aug. 28, 1871, in pursuance of said directions, two sums of $250,000 were paid by the Controller for that purpose, but the remainder of the sum required by the Commissioners has not been paid, nor was it intended to be, unless by order of the Court. Mr. O'GORMAN then proceeded as follows:

Now, if the Court please, I appear in this case on behalf of the Department of Docks, and against the Deputy Controller of the City of New-York, and it is the first time that I have been placed in the position of appearing, even formally, in any case against any head or department of the City Government. In doing so, it is proper to say that the bringing of this question before your Honor is in full accordance with the wishes of the Deputy Controller himself; and, considering the embarrassing position in which he is placed, it does not at all surprise me that he desires to be governed in his action rather by the opinion of a Court of justice, after hearing argument, than by the advice of any counsel, no matter how much or little he may respect his opinion; and, in submitting the case to your Honor, I will say at the outset that there may be some doubt on the subject, which is well worth your Honor's consideration. The progress of the great public works of the City of New-York depends upon the interpretation which your Honor will give to the two statutes to which I shall call your attention. Whatever the law is, in your Honor's view, ought to be carried out; as the same time, it is not improper that I should at the outset call the attention of the Court to the great importance of your Honor's decision, whatever that decision may be; and I shall also say to you that the question as yet has been undecided by any Court or by any Judge. Now, in section 11, cap. 374, of the laws of 1871, is found the provision on which the Dock Commissioners depend in this argument. That act, in which that section is found, was passed on April 19, 1871. It is what is commonly called the charter. In it are set forth the duties of the various Departments of the City Government, the work that is required from them, the various purposes to be carried out by them, and the means by which these purposes and prospects can be sustained. A portion of this act referring to the Commissioners of Docks was first passed in what is called the charter of 1870, and was amended and incorporated into the so-called charter of 1871. The amendment was to extend their powers and increase their duties and enlarge the work that they had to do. I say this for the purpose of stating to your Honor that the whole question involved the express and particular consideration of the Legislature of 1871 on the act passed on that day. Now that act, under section 11, provides that the Controller, when directed by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, shall prepare and issue bonds, and provides that these bonds shall not be payable for thirty years; it provides that no more than $5,000,000 of these bonds shall be issued; that out of the proceeds of the bonds shall be paid the expenses and compensation of the Board, the payment of expenses of building docks, wharfs, &c., under section 4, and other expenses necessary to be incurred in carrying out the provisions of the act. It goes on to say that the Counsel of the Corporation shall appear on behalf of the Commissioners, and therefore I am here. Now, if the will of the Legislature as expressed on the 18th of April is not interfered with by any other expression of the legislature will, there can be no doubt that these bonds now prayed for should be issued, and that we are entitled to the mandate of this Court directed to the head of this department that they should be issued. The question then is, has the Legislature in any way repealed that act? And now we come to the act to which my learned opponent in this case relies, and that is the act passed on the 19th of April, one day after the passage of the act giving powers to the Dock Commissioners to which I have referred. This is an act to make a provision for the local Government of the City and County of New-York, and section 2 is the section depended on, which provides that out of the sums so raised (under the Two per Cent. act) shall be paid all expenses of the City and County Government for all their departments and purposes for each ensuing year, besides the principal and interest of debts falling due, and no liability shall be incurred for any purpose in either of said years amounting to more than two per cent. of the valuation with the additions provided. Now if that section stood by itself, there would be little doubt on this question; but of course it is a principle of interpretation that all acts in pari materia, all acts of the Legislature affecting the same subject, shall be read together as expressing the continued will of the Legislature; that no implied repeal shall be favored; that, so far as possible, each act shall stand; and it is the duty of the Court to so construe that language as that the Legislature may seem to be consistent; and its will not in one part contradict and avoid its will as expressed in another part. Now, that section does not stand by itself, first as to the principal of the debt falling due, referred to in section 2, as amounts to be paid by taxation of that year. Your Honor will find section 10 giving force to the provisions commonly called "the Consolidation act," which provides that bonds and debts coming due in 1871 shall be paid out out of the taxation of that year, but from other bonds called consols; so that the Legislature itself points out that it does not mean to be governed by the mere letter of that provision. Provision is also made for the payment by the issue of bonds of such sum as shall be found due to the late Sheriff of the City of New-York; also to raise such moneys as may be necessary for the completion of the New-York County Court-house, so that the Legislature in that act clearly was not of the opinion that all the expenses of the City, giving to the word expenses its larger interpretation, must be paid out of the taxation of that year. Therefore I submit that the word "expenses" must be given such interpretation as to make the clause consistent with the former act of the Legislature of the preceding day, and to the word "expenses" we must give the meaning of such charges as may be called current expenses, and as are not provided for by other legislation. Now that question came up before the Hon. JOHN BARNARD in the case of Foley vs. The Mayor, and in that case JUDGE BONNER, in his opinion, expressly decided that the injunction was not intended to affect issue of bonds required by the Dock Department. He said: "The Department of Docks and the Department of Parks had a right to issue bonds whenever in their judgment it is necessary, for the purposes of carrying on the proper duties intrusted to them by law."

Mr. STRAHAN—That was a mistake fallen into by the learned Judge.

Mr. O'GORMAN—My friend had better not be too hasty in imputing a mistake to the learned Judge. He decided in a like manner in two injunction orders subsequently settled. I hold that so far as the opinion and order of Judge BARNARD can be interpreted, the meaning is that the Dock Department being free from all suspicion, its duties being honorably performed by the admission of all men, that nothing should be done to restrain them from raising money necessary for their use. That can only be raised by bonds. If the interpretation given to that section by some jurists is to be adopted it is very clear that there is not left for the uses of the City Government a sum sufficient to enable the Dock Department to carry out or even to begin the duties required upon them. It is urged that no stocks, no bonds can, under section 2, be issued for any purpose. What does section 4 say? "That no bonds or stocks of the City and County of New-York, except those authorized to be issued by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund and Revenue bonds, are to be hereafter issued." If the meaning of section 2 was that no bonds are to be issued, what is the meaning of section 4, which assumes that bonds are to be issued by direction of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund? What bonds? Why, dock bonds. All we ask is that inasmuch as the City has issued them before to the amount of $600,000, and inasmuch as the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund have appropriated $1,000,000 for the purposes of the Department of Docks, that the balance of $600,000 now due shall be issued. If they are not, the contracts executed and to be carried out must fail, and suits will be instituted against the CITY for their non-performance.

Mr. STRAHAN, in reply to the argument of Mr. O'GORMAN, read the following affidavit of Deputy Controller GREEN:

ANDREW H. GREEN, being duly sworn, deposes and says: That the Department of Docks is one of the departments of the municipal government of the City of New-York, organized under and pursuant to chapter 137 of the laws of 1870, which act was amended by chapter 393, passed April 30, 1870, and further amended by chapter 374, passed April 19, 1871; that deponent is advised by counsel, and believes that by the provisions of Chapter 393 of the laws of 1870, the expenses of the City Government for all the departments, including the Department of Docks and the purposes thereof, can only be lawfully provided for during the years 1871 and 1872, in the manner set forth in said last-mentioned statute, and that the matters here have no reference to, and do not form any part of, the duty of deponent or of the Controller of the City to issue, during the years 1871 and 1872, the bonds of the City for the purposes specified in the affidavit of the relator, WILLIAM WOOD, upon which the order to show cause herein was obtained.

Mr. STRAHAN said he appeared on behalf of Mr. ANDREW GREEN, and he desired to say he did not desire to throw any reflections whatever on the Commissioners of Docks. He had found it necessary, for the administration of the very delicate and difficult duties that devolved upon him, to call for judicial determination, so as to guide him in the administration of the Department of Finance for that purpose to interfere with any Department of the City Government; but he did not find in the Department, in his judgment, sufficient authority to enable him to perform his duties without hesitation; hence the reason of his appearance in Court. Counsel observed that the determination of this question would affect all other Departments in this City, as the same argument would apply to all involved. He entered into a review of the passage of the acts of the 18th and 19th of April, contending that, under the provisions of the Two per Cent. act, the Dock Commissioners could not raise money on bonds during the year 1871. The Two per Cent. act limits the amount to be raised to $6,500,000 for 1871, and 6½ for 1872. It expressly limits the expenses of all Departments of the City to that sum. The act of the previous day authorizes the issue of bonds for the Department of Docks. This act fixes the total amount, and provides for a Board of Apportionment. It was no fault of the Deputy-Controller that all the money lawfully appropriated to any Department was exhausted. He could not go beyond the law. Nor was he in fault if the Board of Apportionment had not attributed the proper proportion to any one department. It was said that under the fourth section provision was made for the issue of bonds, but it would be seen that this only applied to the bonds authorized by the Consolidation act, which was expressly saved by the last section of the Two Per Cent. act. The O'Brien bonds and Court-house bonds, included in the Two Per Cent. act, differed entirely from the other purposes of the moneys to be raised.

As to Judge BARNARD'S decision, it was, as he understood it, that the Board of Parks and Docks were not restrained by the Two per Cent. act from issuing such bonds as they were by law entitled to issue as such Boards. But for that there was no necessity for their coming into Court.

Mr. O'GORMAN made a brief reply, when the Court took the papers, reserving its decision.

Mr. VANDERPOEL, on behalf of Messrs. HARRINGTON and HOR, presented a similar motion, to compel the Finance Department to issue bonds for nearly $400,000, to complete improvements made in the Boulevards, Seventh-avenue, &c., and for which proper requisitions had been made. Mr. BUCKLEY argued in favor of the motion, after which the Court adjourned until this morning.

Receipt of Taxes.

The sum of $28,703 71 was received for personal taxes yesterday. The books for taxes on real estate will probably be opened on Monday next.

JEROME PARK.

The Postponed Races—The Subscription-Room of the American Jockey Club Thrown Open to the Public.

Should the weather prove favorable, the races postponed yesterday will come off at Jerome Park to-morrow. There are six events on the programme of the day's sport, all of which bid fair to be interesting, as will be seen from the following entries. In the Annual Sweepstakes, a dash of two miles, by three-year olds, the starters will probably be Monarchist, By the Sea, one of DENNISON & CRAWFORD'S colts, and Jo Elliott. The second race, a dash of a mile and three-quarters, for a purse of $600, will be between Harry Bassett, Judge Durell, Finesse, Vespucius and Moriachi. This race looks so much like a sure thing for Harry Bassett that the betting is chiefly for second place. The third event will be a dash of one mile and a quarter, for three-year olds. The contestants will be Madam Dudley, Lizzie B., John Merryman, Jo Elliott, Nick-a-Jack, Kit Kat and Impecunious. The fourth race will be a dash of three-quarters of a mile, by two-year olds, for the Champagne Stakes. Out of the seventeen youngsters entered, the following are likely to start: Meteor, Gray Planet, Conceit, Chivalry, Inverary, Brennus, Victoria, and WATSON'S Bonnie Katie, or Anglo-Saxon. In the sixth event, the Selling Sweepstakes, the starters will be Lord Byron, Cadenus, Felicity, Raian, Gerald, Gee, Moselle, Talaria and Athlone. The final event of the day will be the Grand National Handicap Steeplechase, a dash of two miles and a quarter, for all ages. Eight horses will probably start in this race, as follows: Haris, Mary Clark, Telegram, Barney Williams, Defender, Ameola, and BABCOCK'S and SANFORD'S entries.

To-night the new subscription-room of the American Jockey Club, corner of Madison avenue and Twenty-seventh-street, will be thrown open to the public, and no one interested in turf matters should neglect the opportunity to take a look at this splendid room, for which the public are so greatly indebted to Judge MONSON, the enterprising and popular Treasurer of the Club.

The date for the final day of the meeting has not been decided upon as yet, but will be made known on Saturday.

A few pools were sold last evening at the following rates:

THE NEW REPUBLIC.

The Alleged Bonapartist Conspiracy—An Election Ruse—Free Prosecutions and Little Carricaturing—Fresh Pictures—The Case of Rochefort—M. Thiers' Position—Gossip About Journalism.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PARIS, Tuesday, Sept. 26, 1871.

I gave a large portion of my last letter to the "great Bonapartist conspiracy," which, as I anticipated, was a conspiracy upon the lucus a non lucendo principle, or, one may say, a conspiracy to get up an excitement about a conspiracy. The whole thing has been indignantly denied; therefore there was something in it after all. For the benefit of logicians I may here remark that our system of logic cannot safely be applied to French politics, and that, as a general rule, one must draw an inverse conclusion from established premises. The conspiracy is denied; Gen. DOUAY says that his visit to Chiselhurst was known, and that he offered to forego his visit to England if a call upon his former sovereign would be followed by any bad impressions, since he could not pass Chiselhurst without making a call; and he adds that the Government was well aware of the facts. As the Officiel remained silent Gen. DOUAY demanded a court of inquiry. Then it was that the Government, with apparent repentance, made the correction, and stated that Gen. DOUAY had not been removed from his command, but merely changed for the time being—the act having nothing political about it. The truth is that this was an election dodge which did not work at all satisfactory. Soon after the departure of the Assembly there were complaints of Government interference in the elections. This was promptly denied, and a circular was sent to the Prefects ordering them to abstain from favoring either side. This was for the public. On the other hand, several letters were discovered. M. BARTHELEMY-SAINT-HILAIRE began to write letters to "My dear Prefect." The paper was white, thick and elegant; upon the top in the choicest style was stamped the monogram of B. St. H.; the words "executive palace" were neatly printed, and at the bottom was signed "Private Secretary to the President." The tenor of these letters was the same:

"MY DEAR PREFECT: Of course I know that you cannot interfere in any way with the elections for the Councils-General, and we wish above all things to avoid the appearance of it; but M. A—— is a brave and honest man, a particular friend of M. THIERS, and I should like very much to see him elected."

When those words following the heading given, dating from the Executive Palace, and signed by M. BARTHELEMY-SAINT-HILAIRE, private secretary to the President, reached a Prefect, he knew very well that he was expected to do all that he possibly could to elect M. A——. If that gentleman was not elected, his standing at the Executive Palace would be considerably compromised, and if clumsy enough to be found out in his interference, his dismissal would speedily follow. The consequence generally was that the Prefects put their wives and friends upon an active electoral campaign for M. A——. I do not say this to condemn it, for it is done by all, and every where, and perhaps the best thing for France would be the election of all the Government candidates. My object is to explain the great Bonapartist conspiracy. These little notes of M. BARTHELEMY-SAINT-HILAIRE began to be talked about. Nothing would be better than a little distraction. The Empire was supposed to have made a good deal of capital out of the art of discovering conspiracies whenever they would be particularly apropos, and perhaps an Imperialist conspiracy would help out the elections. The plan was very simple; its execution required tact. Gen. DOUAY had just returned from Chiselhurst. A newspaper correspondent was let into the secret of his visit, with the strictest injunctions not to tell anybody. The next morning it appeared in his journal. So far all was satisfactory; in a few hours the people would revolt against the idea of a return of the Empire, the army would be indignant at the thought, the caricaturists would turn again upon BADINGUET, the people would rush to the polls and elect every man of the Government candidates. Unfortunately, things took another turn. The army was rather amiling than otherwise, and condemned the order forbidding the sale of a Bonapartist periodical in the camps and casernes. The Bellevilloise were in high glee at the idea of helping overturn another Government. A very large number of the better class was trying to be foremost in the supposed conspiracy, and the newspapers rushed in a body upon poor Gen. DOUAY, who was the victim. He very promptly refused to play the rôle of political scape-goat, and the Official was obliged to publish his demand.

FOR RESPONSIBLE PARTIES.

That is the secret history of the great conspiracy, but I have no idea that M. THIERS had any part in it or knew of it. It was the work of well-meaning but dreadfully thoughtless friends, and the correspondent of the Indépendance Belge was selected for the confidence. He played his part like a man, that is, he did all that was expected of him. The radical journals went the furthest in the matter, for they it was who saw the connection between the conspiracy and the visit of the Empress to Spain. I think that I can safely say that no such attempt will be made a second time; for, despite the bitter words and abuse heaped upon the Empire, there are many who love it yet, and who are ready to fight for it to-morrow. And thousands of others are ready to fight for it at a moment's notice, who would be as ready to fight the new Government after it had been three months in working. As Prince BISMARCK said at Sedan, the French nation is too unstable to be trusted, and but little dependence can be placed upon it. With this trouble within, and the many difficulties without, the Republic will have a very hard road to travel. I may be wrong, but it seems to me that these European States must grow into Republicanism together. Looking back fifty years, we find a very rapid and certain tendency toward a Republican form of government. The progress has been so marked that one could almost calculate the term; and, strange to say, the drawbacks and delays have been caused by the Republicans themselves, or by men under the banner of the Republic. It is their violence, their excesses, which have thrown back a quarter of a century the progress of Liberalism or Republicanism in Europe.

PRESS PROSECUTIONS.

I remarked the other day upon the suppression of the Grelot, a comic journal which had a caricature of M. THIERS as a lacquey, and the censor has forbidden another out in that journal. This week another comic paper has been seized, under, it seems, very aggravating circumstances. The proprietor cannot be pursued before the tribunal without bringing the caricature in as evidence, and M. THIERS is too wise to do that. He has not forgotten the "Burgundy Pear." Therefore, the publisher escapes with a caution, but with the certainty of being pursued for some other picture, for which he will be made to suffer all the pains he ought to have for this. I am told that the drawing representing M. THIERS as the statue upon the new Column Vendôme, with a blue cotton umbrella raised over his head and holding something in the left hand. What that something is I do not know; but I believe the Chief is recommended to occupy the position formerly held by NAPOLEON the Great, and later by Imperial Cæsar, because it would be a most excellent point for watching Bonapartist conspiracies. The motto, it is said, was uncommonly aggravating, and, knowing the national peculiarity regarding ridicule M. THIERS refused to let the sketch go before the public. It is a singular fact that the saige produced no good caricatures, those upon the Emperor being all vulgar and positively obscene. Even now the authorities permit the sale of a picture representing the Empress as a cow, which is one of the lowest and most despicable drawings I have ever seen. I bought a capital thing on the Emperor, the other day, called Congé Définitif, and the drawing was really amusing; but the work was spoiled by the text, which was obscene and immoral. Obscenity of some sort enters into most of the caricatures of the day, even La Vie Parisienne glaring continually upon indecency and vying with the title of the Journal des Gaudes.

FRENCH PICTURES.

Many of the more assuming paintings are of the same order. I will give but one example. In most of the windows where photographs are sold is one of a picture marked "Salon of 1870," and entitled "Les Femmes sont Chères." It represents a number of females exposed for sale in some Eastern country, all beautiful nymphs, with skin as white as snow, while a few brown-skinned natives regard them carefully, with the remark that "Women are very dear." One has been bought, and is being carried away upon the back of a slave, while the leering look of one or two by-figures give a strong significance to the picture. Yet I am told that this painting was sold for a very high price. With the exception of a few scarce paintings, there is nothing striking now on exhibition. I forgot to say, in speaking of the caricature seized in La Vie Parisienne, that M. THIERS was represented in the uniform of the National Guard. The same day this seizure was made, an obscene sketch was allowed to be sold upon the boulevards, called "Le Testament, le Mort du Badinguet;" but, as the Police did not interfere, some gentlemen took justice into their own hands.

THE CASE OF ROCHEFORT.

In his letter to ROCHEFORT Gen. TROCHU says that he was profoundly disgusted with the lèse-majesté when, after making capital by refusing his salary, ROCHEFORT privately demanded it and pocketed it. Two curious facts have come to light regarding this point. Among the friends of ROCHEFORT who have been arrested lately, several have been found with printed sheets headed, "Subscription to Citizen ROCHEFORT, who refused his salary. The people's gift—one cent," &c. One of these papers was found in ROCHEFORT'S desk, and I now recall one or two articles in his paper, hinting at such a subscription. For some reason the "loan was never put upon the market," and ROCHEFORT drew his pay at the back door. During his trial he hinted at something of this kind, and no less than five times reminded Col. MERLIN that he just missed making one hundred thousand francs by suppressing the Marseillaise, and was greatly put out because that point did not tell in his favor. The other point is this: After pledging his honor as a soldier, and his word as a Christian and a Breton to the Empress, to protect the Tuileries and the Chamber, TROCHU went to the War Office and made it one of his conditions that he was to have an advance of salary of thirty thousand francs. After no little discussion the sum was granted. Whatever the result, therefore, he had secured the money, and had his pay safely in his pocket. His letter to ROCHEFORT was like Satan rebuking sin, or like JULES FAVRE'S denunciations of the immorality of the Imperial Court.

M. THIERS' POSITION.

Looking at all of the plots and tricks, the scramble for office, the party fights and jealousies, the conspiracies and accusations, zealous friends and caricatures, one must confess that M. THIERS has an exceedingly hard time of it. If ever a man found it hard to follow the strict line of duty, it is certainly he, and it is a wonder that his many burdens do not break him down. There was never a better instance of personal rule than at present, for M. THIERS has to control everything, and dare leave nothing unsupervised. Everything goes wrong which does not come under his eye. But he is honestly and sincerely trying to establish the Republic, I do believe, and means to bring France back to prosperity if he can. It is not surprising that there should be some errors, but it is surprising that the Republicans do not help him. Instead of giving him their cordial support they are becoming the real opposition, and it may be truly said that if M. THIERS succeeds in founding the Republic, it will be done in spite of the Republicans. Orleanism seems to be as nearly dead as the hopes of HENRY V., and that party acknowledges that it has lost an opportunity which will not rise again. Even the DUC D'AUMALE gives it up, and is about entering active political life. In doing so he says that he does not desire to be elected President of the Republic, for nine out of ten who voted for him would do so in the hope that he would restore the monarchy, and that, as a loyal and honorable man, he could not do.

JOURNALISTIC GOSSIP.

L'Ordre, M. CLEMENT DUVERNOIS'S new journal, is to appear on Saturday next, and will be the Bonapartist organ. It claims, or will claim, that the form of government not yet being definitely fixed upon, every citizen has the right to his own opinions as to the best form, and the right to discuss them openly with the people. In this he is clearly right. But the Siècle and similar journals have a different idea of liberty. They say that any one is free to discuss in favor of the Republic, but is guilty of high treason to argue in favor of the Empire. Well, it is a difference of opinion. There is a large and magnificent academy here, endowed for the special purpose of settling differences of opinion. Yet it makes no progress in politics. From time immemorial, men have cut each other's throats and punched each other's heads for differences of opinion, and we seem no further advanced to-day. But, as the Quaker wrote in his journal from London Bridge to Deal, traveling improves the mind." By mind, he has cleared off a great deal of rubbish and prejudice since the way Frenchmen conduct their arguments, and how ready they are to crucify all who do not agree with them. And I can further say that since I have had experience with French crowds, I have had the greatest sympathy for Pontius Pilate, the worthy prefect who did his best to clear his conscience by washing his hands of the whole affair. He was by no means troubled, and then only when the Jews had trumped up a tale of sedition and brought witnesses to swear to it. Let any one follow French trials, and he will have a different idea of that sad story. Neither in politics nor religion is there more tolerance in France than in ancient Judea.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

FIRST MORTGAGE SINKING FUND LAND-GRANT BONDS

OF THE

ST. JOSEPH AND DENVER CITY RAILROAD COMPANY.

IN DENOMINATIONS OF $1,000, $500, AND $100, can now be had from the undersigned or through the principal banks and bankers of the United States. The attention of investors is invited to the merits of these bonds, secured by a first and only mortgage on the road, equipments, franchises, and property of a trunk line of railroad which will shorten the distance between New-York and San Francisco some 300 miles, and in addition the mortgage to secure the bonds covers a land-grant of 1,500,000 acres of the most fertile land in the West, which is prohibited from being sold at less than four ($4) dollars per acre by the terms of the mortgage deed, and according to the present market price of the Illinois Central Company's lands is worth $10,000,000. This land was originally set down at $5,000,000, but has been largely reduced by subscriptions of actual investors. The remainder balance of the land is offered at 6% and accrued interest, but the right is reserved to advance the price at any time, without notice.

The bonds have thirty years to run, have 8 per cent. interest, payable in New-York, London or Frankfort-on-the-Main, at the option of the holder, without notice, free of taxes. BOTH PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST ARE PAYABLE IN GOLD. They are Coupon Bonds, but can be registered with the Company, or can be registered with the coupons off, and interest paid to registered owner. Interest payable APL. 15 and Oct. 15. A liberal sinking fund, formed from the entire land sales, is reserved for which the bonds will be received 10 per cent interest, thereby providing for the early extinguishment of this loan.

TRUSTEE—Farmers' Loan and Trust Company.

These bonds offer favorable inducements to parties desiring to fund their Five-Twenties or other high-priced securities.

In answering Five-Twenties the investment realizes 21 per cent. profit on the principal, 6 per cent. per annum coupon of interest, and in the same time got a perfect security.

Maps, circulars, documents, and full information furnished on application.

Should either or agents for the sale of this loan, our New York and in Paris, regular business for bonds of the St. Joseph and Denver City Railroad Company. Those of the Eastern States, being near parties at once and secure a market. These bonds originally placed by us at 97½.

CHESAPEAKE AND OHIOS—FIVE-TWENTIES—CENTRAL PACIFICS.

BANKING OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
No. 5 NASSAU-ST., NEW-YORK, Oct. 3, 1871.

OF THE FIFTEEN MILLION CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO SIX PER CENT. LOAN, less than one-third remains unsold, and this remainder is rapidly being taken up. These bonds have thirty years to run, are especially desirable for investment, can now be bought

15 per cent. less than TEN-FORTIES,
20 per cent. less than FIVE-TWENTIES,
25 per cent. less than SIXES of 1881,

and are equally sure to be paid; principal and interest, in gold coin. Price (at present) 90 and accrued interest, that is, with coupon attached, due Nov. 1.

$1,000 Chesapeake and Ohio Bond costs to-day $908 67.
$500 Chesapeake and Ohio Bond costs to-day $454 33.
$100 Chesapeake and Ohio Bond costs to-day $90 86.

We have but a limited supply left of the smaller denominations. Bonds are in coupon or registered form, same as FIVE-TWENTIES.

When the Railroad is completed in 1873, and the Bonds are dealt in at the Stock Exchanges of the world, we have no doubt they will be equally popular with the Central Pacifics, which now command a premium, and are a favorite security here and in Europe; both roads being prominent lines, and under substantially the same local management. Principal and interest of the CENTRAL PACIFIC and CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO BONDS, are specifically payable in gold coin in New-York; the interest on the former being paid January and July, and of the latter, May and November, corresponding with the two classes of Five-Twenties. We recommend either of them to our friends and customers with the same confidence that we did the Five-Twenty bonds, when we were selling millions of them for the United States Government.

We buy and sell FIVE-TWENTIES, TEN-FORTIES, EIGHTY-ONES, and CENTRAL OR WESTERN PACIFICS, or receive them in payment for CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO BONDS at their current market price. Orders for Chesapeake and Ohio Bonds, accompanied with Drafts or Checks, may be forwarded to us by mail, and the bonds will be sent by express, charges paid.

FISK & HATCH.

P. S.—Accounts of Banks, Bankers and others received, on which we allow Four per Cent. interest.

Certificates of deposit issued and collections made in all parts of the Union.

OFFICE LAKE SHORE AND MICHIGAN SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY,
CLEVELAND, Sept. 16, 1871.

TO THE HOLDERS OF THE COMMON stock of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway Company:

Notice is hereby given, that this Company offers to the holders of the common stock of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway Company Fourteen Millions of Dollars of the capital stock of this Company, issued in pursuance of the vote of the stockholders of this Company, taken under the provisions of its charter, at a meeting of the stockholders held at the City of Cleveland, Ohio, on the 27th day of July, 1871.

Each shareholder of the common stock will be entitled to forty per cent. of the par of the stock held by him, upon the payment of thirty-three and one-third per cent. of the par thereof, in the manner following, viz.: Ten per cent. of the par thereof on the 15th day of November next, the further sum of ten per cent. of the par thereof on the 1st day of December next, and the residue of said thirty-three and one-third per cent. at such time or times as may be payable subsequent to the 1st day of December next, will be given to the stockholders, by publication in a newspaper published in the City of Cleveland, and also in a newspaper published in the City of New-York, at least thirty days before the day on which payment is required.

The whole of said residue will be called for on or before the 1st day of August, 1872.

If payment shall not be made in accordance with any calls which may be made, all rights to such stock shall cease, and the same will be disposed of for the account and benefit of the Company.

Scrip certificates will be issued on the payment of the first installment (called for Nov. 1.) Payments of subsequent calls will, as the same are from time to time made, be indorsed upon the scrip certificate.

The scrip certificates will be transferable on the books of the Company.

On payment of the thirty-three and one-third per cent. certificates for full-paid stock will be issued upon the surrender for cancelment of the scrip certificates.

Dividends upon the sum of the installments actually paid in, will be declared, payable at the same rate and time as upon common stock.

Payments of the calls are to be made at the office of the Union Trust Company of New-York, and a proportion of the scrip certificates will be required to be, and thus the issue of the scrip certificates may be stamped thereon.

The stock transfer books will be opened on Monday, the 30th day of September next, and will be closed on Saturday, the 14th day of October next.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The situation at Chicago is but little changed, except that indications of returning life are given by business men in all branches, and the newspapers are reappearing, most of them greatly reduced, but well filled with advertisements. The bodies of victims of the disaster are found everywhere. Eighty lay at the Morgue yesterday, and sixty-four were disposed of the day before by the Coroner. Twenty more were found, yesterday afternoon, in the basements of two buildings in the North Division. The relief effort is thoroughly organized, and Gen. SHERIDAN preserves excellent order. In the meantime contributions flow in from all parts of the country and from Europe.

Advices were received in Toronto yesterday confirmatory of the reported raid by Fenians into the Province of Manitoba. No resistance was made, and O'NEIL is said to have again surrendered to the United States troops, who pursued the ruffians. O'DONOHUE is said to have relied on support from the French half-breeds. He has also been intriguing with the laborers on the Northern Pacific Railway. A raid at another point is spoken of, and every able-bodied man in the province is under arms.

The first consequent on the prolonged drouth in Northern Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Western Canada are still raging, with fearful destruction to lives and property. Forests, farm-houses and villages are swept away, and the people who are burned to death or die of privation are counted by hundreds. The town of Windsor, Ontario, was partially destroyed yesterday and the night before. The loss is estimated at over $100,000.

A reward of $1,000 is offered by the Mayor of Philadelphia for the arrest of the murderer of Major OCTAVIUS CATTO, the colored man shot on election day, and the City Council will offer an additional reward.

A majority of the members elected to the French Conseils-Generaux are supporters of the present Administration and friendly to the President. About one-ninth of the number returned are Bonapartists. The case of M. VICTOR PLACE, formerly French Consul at New-York, came up in Paris on Wednesday, and, after hearing a witness for the prosecution, M. PLACE was remanded for a further hearing. The London Echo reports that M. FOUYER-QUERTIER is on his way back to Versailles with the Customs Treaty duly ratified and signed. It is also reported that the German Government has consented to the entire evacuation of French territory. On the other hand a dispatch from Berlin says that M. FOUYER-QUERTIER is offering concessions to Germany in the treaty negotiations, for the purpose of securing the evacuation of six Departments. Field Marshal VON BLUMENTHAL is at Balmoral on a visit to Queen VICTORIA. The Progressists are about to organize the party throughout Spain. SERRANO and SAGASTA are on the best of terms, and ready to act in unison.

Gov. HOFFMAN, with his private Secretary, Col. VAN BUREN, Controller NICHOLS and "HOMER A. NELSON, Secretary of State, paid a hurried visit to the Hudson River State Hospital, at Poughkeepsie, yesterday. The Hospital will be opened on the 18th of this month.

The losses by the fire at Windsor, Ontario, yesterday, are estimated at $100,000.

In accordance with the suggestion of President GRANT, the banquet proposed by the city on the laying of the corner-stone of the Boston Post-office will be dispensed with. The programme in other respects will be carried out.

A salute of thirty guns was fired on the Boston Common, yesterday, in commemoration of COLUMBUS' discovery of America.

NATHANIEL POPE, Superintendent of Indian Affairs, writing from Fort Craig, New-Mexico, Oct. 7, says that the Apache Chief, COCHISE, with thirty warriors and their families, had come to Cuchillo Negro, thirty miles from the Canada Alamosa, Sept. 28, where POPE and Agent PILES visited their camp, and obtained pledges from COCHISE to keep the peace, and use his authority to collect roaming Apaches upon the reservation.

There were five deaths from yellow fever in Charleston during the twenty-four hours ending last evening.

DANIEL TORRANCE and ALLAN CAMPBELL, of New-York, were re-elected directors of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad yesterday.

A freshet is apprehended in Maine and other portions of New-England. At Lewiston, Me., between 2 P. M. yesterday and 11 P. M. on Wednesday, nine inches of rain fell, and the rivers were greatly swollen. "Washouts" on the various railroads delay the trains east of Boston. At Providence, R. I., 4.68 inches of rain fell in twenty-seven hours.

Are We to Have a Rain Situation?

We are informed that Mayor HALL has declined to accede to the request of the Committee of Seventy for an interview, for the purpose of consultation with regard to the appointment of inspectors and canvassers to serve at the November election. Simultaneously with this refusal he has caused his private secretary to issue a circular to the public, in which he tries to shirk the responsibility, in advance, for the frauds that the Ring design to perpetrate upon the ballot-box next November. He says that 780 of these inspectors on the Democratic side were elected last Fall, of whom 637 are to serve at the next election; while on the Republican side 300 were elected, of whom 280 are to serve—thus leaving only 143 Democrats and 120 Republicans, or 970 inspectors, altogether, to be appointed by the Mayor. In reply to this it is enough to say that 970 of HALL'S inspectors, distributed as they are to be, throughout the various Wards of the City, (seventeen of them are allotted to the Sixth Ward,) will be amply sufficient to nullify the people's voice, and to elect or defeat all candidates who are satisfactory or otherwise to the Ring. But the public are not ignorant of the fact that the remaining 637 Democratic inspectors who, the Mayor says, were elected last Fall, were thus elected by Tammany Hall, and are simply tools to do the bidding of the Ring. If any of them shall prove to be timid or refractory, they will be disposed of before election-day in the same way others have been before them, by being forced to resign and leave their places to be filled by less scrupulous men. It is a well-known fact that this was done in numerous instances last Fall and the Fall before, even while the election was progressing. If any one of the three inspectors refused to assent to the frauds he saw committed before his eyes, he was bullied and threatened by his associates, and, when this proved unavailing, an order came from head-quarters for his summary dismissal.

Thus it will be seen from the Mayor's own circular that the 780 Democratic inspectors, whether elected or appointed, will all be in the service of the Ring at the ensuing election. Of the 300 Republican inspectors, he admits that he is to have the appointment of 120, and as these will all be selected from the Tammany branch of the Republican Party, under the direction of "Hank" SMITH, they will be, for all practical purposes, the same as if they were selected by TWEED, SWEENY and HALL. The people will then have remaining only 200 inspectors out of the whole number—1,170—who are not practically tools of the Ring, and bound to obey their instructions. The kind of farce that will be enacted in this City on the 7th of November, under the name of an "election," may easily be imagined. Well, "what are you going to do about it?" That is precisely the question—what are you going to do about it? What does Mr. TILDEN and the Reform Democracy propose to do about it? Mr. TILDEN brought down a storm of hisses upon his head for announcing in the Rochester Convention that he should go back to New-York and vote against every local candidate nominated by Tammany Hall. Had the Tammany delegation been in the Convention they would not have thought it worth the while to hiss the unsophisticated Mr. TILDEN; they would have laughed, rather, at his simplicity. What does Tammany care whom he or his friends vote for? It is the counting of the votes that decides the result, and this Tammany has, and is determined to have, in spite of Mr. TILDEN and all his band of "reformers."

The Tammany Ring has fully determined, as we stated several days ago, to carry the City at the coming election, and elect its ticket at all hazards. It will do it as it has done before, by repeating, false counting and wholesale bribery. It is their only hope, and their last resort to save themselves from the consequences of their crimes. With a Tammany delegation in the next Legislature, headed by TWEED, they propose to secure such legislation as will screen them from criminal prosecution for their robberies of the City Treasury, as well as from civil suits to recover the plunder. Thus much they aim to accomplish at all hazards, and, if they can roll up a sufficiently large vote, to make it appear like a popular indorsement of their past career, they will boldly confront the Democracy of the State and of the nation, and claim that they have been acquitted of all blame by the tribunal of last resort—the people—and demand to be reinstated in their old position as leaders of the Democratic Party.

This is the programme the Tammany leaders have laid out for themselves, and they propose to accomplish it by the same means through which the evils and corruptions of New-York politics had their origin, viz.: Frauds upon the ballot. It remains to be seen whether our citizens will be able to devise means to prevent it, and protect their rights, or whether, failing in that, they will quietly submit to the outrage.

The "Two Ways."

The Tribune says its "way" of fighting the Ring is not our way. True enough—and we are very glad of it. If we had adopted the Tribune's way, we should have used only such ammunition as would have been warranted not to hurt anybody against whom it was directed—a result exceedingly pleasing to the "Ring," but not calculated to be of much service to the public. We have wished to succeed, and we believed it was necessary to use energy, directness, and plain speaking.

Mr. SWEENY the Tribune pronounces to be "a very able man," of "too towering a spirit to be the confederate of a gang of vulgar though gigantic forgers, swindlers and peculators." Pray, who are the forgers, &c., thus alluded to by the Tribune? It has excepted HALL and SWEENY—thus cutting the Ring down to two men. We earnestly entreat the Tribune not to speak of anybody as a "forger" or a "swindler" until everything is proved. The Tribune is so very careful not to pronounce any man guilty until it has seen all the evidence, that it ought to refrain from using the very strong, we may even say, the "tempestuous" language above quoted. The Tribune also says that "this City has been robbed on a scale more gigantic than the world had ever before known." But who has robbed it? The Tribune undertakes to tell us who did not handle the money—will it tell us who did?

Is this fight to be helped along by constantly seeking to varnish HALL and SWEENY, and scolding the TIMES? The Tribune's "way" throughout this fight has been to run snarling at the heels of the TIMES, and to give the Ring a sly lift whenever it seemed safe to do so. We appeal to the readers of the two papers whether that is or is not the fact.—But all this is scarcely worth talking about. The people have eyes in their head as well as "Hank" SMITH and the Tammany Republicans.

What is worth talking about, and a good deal, is that TWEED, HALL, and SWEENY have been pronounced guilty, even by the Tribune, of faithlessness to their trusts—and yet they hold the leading offices in the City at this moment. This is a fact which may well excite the unbounded wonder of the whole country.

Again: HALL, after trying to get out of his share of the responsibility by all sorts of lying excuses—such as:

(1.) There have been no frauds;

(2.) The frauds were all committed by the "old Board;"

(3.) CONNOLLY and HALL can be fully vindicated;

(4.) CONNOLLY alone is guilty;

(5.) HALL signed the warrants ministerially;

(6.) HALL never signed them at all;

—having, we say, tried these several pleas, the Mayor now wants to throw all the blame on WATSON. Dead men tell no tales; neither can they answer any accusations. If HALL could escape by saying that WATSON forged his name, does anybody suppose that he would hesitate to try the move? Is not his capacity for truth-telling, and for honorable conduct generally, proved to be of the most limited description? Look at the above excuses for the City frauds—all of which he has put forward between the 22d of July and the 10th of October—and see if you can reconcile them with each other, or with the theory that the man who offered them has the least idea of what truth is.

Let HALL, TWEED and SWEENY tide over this "affair" until after election, and they will snap their fingers at the public. The "majority" to be rolled up for them in this City is already being prepared. We should regard the victory of the Ring in November as a signal public disaster—a disaster to be mourned over with mingled shame and sorrow. But this is probably only another defect in our "way" of looking at this matter, and the Tribune's "way" is not the same thing at all—and, as we said at first, we are very glad, for the sake of the public, that it is not. Meanwhile, until we are stopped by some new "code amendments" of HALL'S, we shall crave permission to continue our part of the contest in our own method, bad as it may be.

A New Phalanx of Reformers.

The young men are coming to the front, though in a form somewhat unexpected. Our jeunesse dorée, the spoilt darlings of society, the "matches" of a few seasons hence, have determined to forswear the delights of the German, and the soft allurements of theatrical parties, in order to do battle for a space with the hydra-headed monster of New-York City corruption. The Seventy are to be reinforced by a gallant and dashing brigade of free lances, who are to show what youth and energy and high breeding can do in the great work of local reconstruction. A call has been issued, signed by about seventy young men, most of whom are well known in New-York society, "for the purpose of organizing an association of young men of this City irrespective of party, the general object of which shall be to co-operate with the movement now on foot for Municipal Reform." We are not at liberty to state the place of the meeting which is to be held to-night. A crowd of disconsolate belles might else besiege the doors and et et armis interrupt the good work of the swains whom drawing-rooms will miss. Let the clubs who display their transparencies over the rum-shops look to it; the war is to be carried into their midst, for Ward organizations are to be formed at once to circumvent the rowdies and loafers who serve under the mud-draggled banner of Tammany. The Duke of WELLINGTON used to say that his aristocratic young ensigns faced the cannon-balls as if a battle had been a game at cricket. When our high-spirited young warriors get into the thick of the political fight, it will require pretty hard knocks and rather better mettle than the Ring has at command to beat them.

We wish our leading citizens, that are to be, all success in their chivalrous enterprise. We are assured that they aim at nothing like exclusiveness in their association, albeit their leaders are of the type which society calls select. They desire to keep clear of the pestiferous influence of professional politicians, but all good men and true, having the energy and the disinterestedness of youth, will be invited to join their ranks. We said the other day that there was little hope for the future when the probable successors of our bankers, merchants, and lawyers seemed as oblivious of the responsibilities of political life as those of the present generation had been till lately. There is every hope for the greater, richer, and more influential New-York which these young men will live to see, when the duties of wealth and position are, thus early, recognized. Active politics ought to be an ennobling as well as an essentially noble sphere for exertion. That it has been basely degraded is universally admitted, but it can only be redeemed by the best men coming to the front. To-night's meeting will mark another decided step in this direction, and will, we trust, be the means of organizing such a movement among the intelligent and cultivated young men in this City, as shall not only be productive of the most beneficial results in the present, but shall also give brilliant promise for the future.

The Question Before Judge Ingraham.

The question which Judge INGRAHAM is called upon to decide on behalf of the Departments of Docks and Parks is, shall the Two per Cent. Tax Levy be as successful a fraud as it was intended to be? Its authors and their organs of the Press made all the capital they could at the time of its passage out of the certainty of retrenchment and the vast possibilities of reform which were involved in the Two per Cent. bill. We were to have, thenceforth, a well-defined limit of expenditures, and an intelligible basis of taxation, and New-York was to challenge the attention of an astonished world in the entirely new character of a model of economical government. There were, in point of fact, a good many simple-minded people who believed these professions. The men who made them probably thought that the time would never come when they would be called upon to make good their very hollow promises. They had hoodwinked the people with tolerable success for several years, and they hoped to be able to do it for at least several years longer. Now that they are confronted with the unexpected obstacle of an honest man in the very centre of their position—the Controller's office—they are reduced to the necessity of employing all the legal ingenuity at their command in the task of proving their own previous statements to be lies, and their own bill a delusive falsehood from beginning to end.

Mr. O'GORMAN calmly assured the Court yesterday that although the Two per Cent. act professed to provide for "all the expenses of the City and County Government for all their departments and purposes," yet that it really did nothing of the kind. On the contrary, it was only one of a series of bills intended to deplete the pockets of the tax-payers and to increase the City debt to a perfectly unlimited extent. The Department of Parks could, with the assent of the Board of Apportionment, and the Two per Cent. act notwithstanding, mortgage the property of the citizens pretty much as they liked. So could the Department of Docks; and so also could the Department of Works, under the Croton bill. The legal acumen of the Corporation Counsel further discovered that the Two per Cent. act had made certain exceptions relating to revenue bonds and other specified obligations due in 1871, which were to be paid by the issue of consolidated bonds. Plain people would conclude that because certain claims were excepted by name from the operation of the Two per Cent. act, therefore all expenditures not so excepted ought to fall within its provisions. Mr. O'GORMAN has, however, a logical method of his own, which is equally independent of the rules of legal interpretation and of common sense. Because the Controller was directed to issue bonds for the completion of the Court-house, to pay Sheriff O'BRIEN'S claims, &c., which were excepted from the operation of the act, therefore, it appears, he must issue bonds for purposes which were not so excepted. The Ring is fighting very hard to avoid being caught in its own trap. The Controller, with all honest citizens at his back, is determined to make them adhere to the terms of their own bargain. This issue cannot be kept too clearly in view, and Mr. O'GORMAN'S very flimsy attempt to make out a case for his masters is a very conclusive proof of how very little they have to stand upon.

The future historian of the great fire of Chicago will have as thrilling a theme as the Plague of London. Already through the smoke of the yet smouldering conflagration, we begin to catch glimpses of the many episodes of individual suffering or daring that heightened the picturesque horrors of this heavy calamity. Not the least impressive of these is the weird picture of that old woman, familiar by this time to the entire country, who, crazed by terror, was seen to rush through the burning streets, singing a Mother Goose melody. Another observer saw from the tower of the Court-house, a picture of heart-rending agony. The janitor of a large five-story building had barely time to escape to the roof with his wife and three small children. There these unfortunates found themselves cut off from all hope or chance of rescue. On all sides moved toward them the devouring flames, and so one by one the members of this hapless little household lay down and died.

In the burning of the Court-house was repeated one of the most painful incidents of the fate of the Paris Commune. The Hotel de Ville was then consumed, and with it a number of prisoners confined in its cells. So with the Chicago Court-house. The jailor believed it to be fire-proof, and refused to let out his prisoners, although an excited crowd clamored for their release, and even threatened him with death. He fled, and within half an hour the building was in flames, and the seventy convicts confined in it perished by the most hideous of deaths. Their fate seems terrible enough, and yet had they been released they might have aggravated the destruction and anarchy. As it was, fiends in human shape were not wanting in the midst of this awful ruin to ply the torch and to add robbery and murder to the woes of this stricken people. The significant dispatch relating that several of these wretches had been hung or shot at once, "as was most convenient," shows the temper in which their marauding was regarded. Still more tragic was the fate of another scoundrel, who attempted to despoil the cashier of a bank as he was emerging with his arms full of bonds and bills. Having prostrated the official with a blow, he was securing the plunder, when an opportune policeman arrested him. The villain shot his captor, and darted into the crowd. But the bystanders fell upon him furiously, and without waiting for even the summary practice of the lamp-post, tore him, it is said, literally limb from limb.

These and kindred scenes must have been the veriest commonplaces all through that appalling Monday night. Doubtless the full horrors of the tragedy will never be accurately known, as it is almost certain that for a long time to come they will not be adequately depicted, even if they are entirely realized. Calamities of this frightful magnitude require the historical perspective to bring out their true proportions. But some day another Defoe will weave from the incidents of that night's work such a story as shall make another generation shudder and weep.

The Difference.

The Democratic papers—notably, the Express, of this City—are forever trying to excuse the Tammany frauds by crying out, "Look at the peculations committed by Federal officials—what have you got to say about them?"

In the first place, we have to say that two blacks do not make a white. You cannot justify the embezzlements carried on under the New-York Ring by asserting that some Federal official has proved faithless to his trust.

In the next place, there is this all important difference to consider between the two classes of cases: when Federal officers are proved guilty of dishonesty they are punished, if caught—if not caught, they are at least obliged to hide their heads, in disgrace and ruin, far from home and kindred.

Paymaster HODGE, for misappropriating an amount of money which would not pay ANDREW GARVEY for two hours' plastering, has been sentenced to two years imprisonment with hard labor.

W. M. TWEED, proved to have been concerned in thefts and forgeries involving millions, still occupies one of the foremost positions of New-York, is candidate for the Senate, and will certainly be re-elected.

OAKEY HALL, who signed all the fraudulent warrants, is still able to boast that he is Mayor of the City, and is at this moment busily engaged in taking measures to prevent a rightful expression of public opinion at the polls next month. He is manipulating the districts, and appointing "inspectors" of election in the Tammany interest, so as to secure another tenure of power for himself and brother rascals.

Is there no difference between dishonesty in Republican and Democratic ranks?

Mr. O'Conor and the Attorney-Generalship.

The World has a capacity for turning defeat into victory and victory into defeat, that surpasses any General of ancient or modern times. During the French-Prussian war its talent in this line had a rare opportunity to display itself, and the readers of the World were daily regaled with the news of French victories which they looked in vain for in any other journal, either in Europe or America. The same paper is now devoting itself to the task of proving that Tammany suffered a defeat at the Rochester Convention, and that the Reform Democracy achieved a brilliant victory. It matters not to the World that both of the combatants, who ought to know the result of their own fight, take a directly opposite view of the situation—that Tammany boasts of its victory and the Reform Democracy admits its defeat—the World will have it that neither party understands its own business or can tell the true issue of the contest. So long as the World confines itself to theorizing upon the subject, it is of little consequence what it says, but when it attempts to narrate actual occurrences, it is desirable that it should confine itself to the truth. In attempting to show that Mr. O'CONOR'S rejection by the Convention as a candidate for Attorney-General was not a defeat of the Reform Democracy, the World says that "it is notorious that if Mr. O'CONOR, or any friend of his in the Convention, had signified his willingness to accept the office, he would have been nominated by unanimous acclamation. Mr. CHAMPLAIN volunteered to withdraw his claims if Mr. O'CONOR would consent to be a candidate. There was no Democrat, in the Convention or out of the Convention, who would not have been too glad to have gone into the canvass with the great and unsullied name of Mr. O'CONOR, and his peerless reputation as a lawyer, to strengthen and adorn the ticket. He was not nominated only because nobody was authorized to state, or had any reason to think it probable, that he would accept."

In reply to this we assert that Mr. KERNAN, who put Mr. O'CONOR in nomination, did state distinctly to the Convention that he believed, in the present crisis of the party, Mr. O'CONOR would accept. We further deny that Mr. CHAMPLAIN, or any one in his behalf, volunteered to withdraw his claims if Mr. O'CONOR would consent to be a candidate. On the contrary, a proposition was made to the Convention that Mr. O'CONOR be nominated, and, in case he refused to accept, that the State Committee be instructed to substitute the name of Mr. CHAMPLAIN.

This would have settled the difficulty satisfactorily to all parties, provided, as the World says, all parties in the Convention were willing that Mr. O'CONOR should be the candidate. But the proposition was rejected by the friends of Tammany, who were determined that in no event should Mr. O'CONOR receive the nomination. Had he been nominated he would have accepted, and, beyond doubt, would be elected, which was the very thing the Tammany thieves feared. As it is, Gen. BARLOW will be the next Attorney-General, and if, as the World insinuates, his legal attainments are not equal to the task of bringing our municipal robbers to justice, he will doubtless have the aid of Mr. O'CONOR'S counsel and advice.

Another reckless and ridiculous Fenian raid comes to lengthen the dismal line of these weak and wicked attempts to commit murder and call it war. It may suit the individuals who live at ease in New-York on the proceeds of a tax upon the hard-won earnings of Irish laborers and servant-girls, to get up a "military" demonstration now and again, to convince their dupes that there is something to show for their money. But they cannot be taught too quickly that such enterprises are as much an insult to the flag which shelters them as they are an outrage to ordinary humanity. Gen. O'NEIL has, of course, been captured, on the side of the border, and his ruffian following, a section of which has begun "operations" in the Red River country, will doubtless find it more expedient to fall back into the clutches of the United States troops than to trust themselves to the tender mercies of the aroused Manitobans. Our Government cannot afford to allow either Gen. O'NEIL or any other of the leaders who may be captured, to get off with so slight a penalty as heretofore. That portion of our Irish citizens whose opinions are worth anything on such a subject, is as much disgusted with these ruffianly raids as the bulk of the American people, and the men who promote and engage in them cannot be too soon made to understand that the United States will treat people who make preparations within her borders to murder some members of a neighboring community, in the same manner as if they had been caught on the way to murder some of her own citizens.

MINOR TOPICS.

Mr. COWLES, of the Chicago Tribune, was on his way to Chicago when he heard of the destruction of his office. He instantly returned to New-York, and made arrangements for the purchase of type and other material necessary for carrying on his paper. The temporary suspension of the Chicago Tribune created a very noticeable blank in journalism, for there is no paper in the country which reflects greater credit upon our calling, or which has done more to elevate it, than that managed by Mr. COWLES. The enterprise which originally built it up will soon suffice to give it a new home, and we hope that the Tribune, and its contemporaries generally in the same city, will enjoy greater prosperity than ever after these dark days are passed.

The President evidently regards the operations of the South Carolina Ku-klux as serious enough to require special attention. He has accordingly issued a proclamation, addressing a note of warning to the conspirators, and calling upon them to deliver their arms, ammunition, and disguises within five days from the 11th. He does not disclose his intentions in case this warning is not complied with, but as the law gives him power to suspend the writ of habeas corpus, to declare the territory defined under martial law, and proceed to employ the army as he thinks best, in the suppression of conspirators such as he now proclaims to exist, the Ku-klux may be entirely assured that the President means business.

In the nomination of Hon. MATTHEW HALE, by the Republicans of the Second Assembly District of Albany County, the honest people of that district have a chance to secure a safe and able representative. Mr. HALE is a good lawyer, an Ex-State Senator, and a thoroughly competent man. The district was represented last year by a member elected as a Republican, and ought to send Mr. HALE, without doubt, as it will with anything like honest effort.

The total returns from Pennsylvania do not suffice for an accurate estimate of the majority on the State ticket. The Philadelphia Press gives returns and estimates showing a majority about double that of 1869. The Legislature is not in doubt. The most contradictory results are shown in various parts of the State, both parties seeming to lose most heavily where they have hitherto been strongest. The preponderances of these changes is, however, largely in favor of the Republicans. The Ohio United States Senator seems assured by a decided majority on joint ballot in the Legislature of that State. The fact that the Senate is possibly Democratic will not interfere with this result, as factious delays are rendered impossible by the United States law on the subject.

"If a riot should take place in this City, growing out of the City Hall troubles in connection with laborers and their wages, the public will have to thank the politicians for it, and the partisan Press will also have to share the consequences."

The above is from the Evening Express. We scarcely know to whom it refers as the "politicians"—it it means TWEED & Co., who have squandered the money intended for the laborers' wages, it is quite right. But does it think the Press is to blame for bringing the City frauds to the public attention? Are we to be told that it is our duty to see men rob the public Treasury without saying a word, and that if the said robbers incite a riot, the people who exposed them are to be blamed for it? Will the Express further tell us, in plain language, who is responsible for the squandering of the thirty millions which have been already raised this year for City expenditures? Ought not a great part of the money to be in the Treasury now—and if it is not there, and a riot takes place because the laborers cannot get paid, who is properly to be held responsible? We hope we misunderstand the Express, but the above paragraph seems to mean something like this: Don't keep watch-dogs, because burglars may not like it; and if you offend them you are to be responsible for the consequences.

"If the public security and order had been disturbed, the responsibility would fall upon the Commissioner of Public Works, whose fault alone is it that the money with which these men ought to have been paid has been squandered elsewhere, and whose strongest friends have more than once before been the promoters of riot.

A splendid series of illustrations is given in Every Saturday for the present week. The list includes a large map of Chicago, showing the burnt district, "The Cooper Testimonial," and a set of graphic Tammany scenes, comprising "The War on Tammany," "Tammany Supporters at Work," "The Tammany Oligarchy," with correct portraits of HALL, SWEENY, TWEED and CONNOLLY, and a caricature of these magnates, "The Tammany Ring Doves."

An article reprinted in another column from the Evening Mail makes timely and pertinent reference to the attempts of the Ring organs to persuade the public that Mr. GREEN is perfectly secure against insidious attacks, and that HALL is quite content to have an honest man at the head of the Department of Finance. No better testimony could be had of the powerful hold upon public confidence possessed by the Deputy Controller than the fact that both the Ring and their Apologists go on the Press Gang, not attack him directly and openly, but couple denunciation of the policies forwarded and intended to effect his removal under a flying pretense of a desire for official decency. Meanwhile Mr. GREEN is busily engaged in putting the pay-rolls of his Department through, thereby saving the tax-payers a very appreciable amount of money besides inaugurating a higher standard of public service. His circular to the heads of Bureaus, which we publish to-day, is surveyed by all those and suppose which have been entered on in New-York City Departments for many years.

AMUSEMENTS.

Musical and Dramatic.

BENEFIT-ENTERTAINMENTS FOR CHICAGO.

Several City theatres advertise entertainments in aid of the suffering inhabitants of Chicago. We believe that the management of the Olympic was first in the field in respect of action, for an announcement of a special matinée on Monday next appeared in print on Tuesday morning. Mr. BANDMANN, however, have been almost as prompt in thought; at all events, he has already secured the Grand Opera-house on Monday evening, and will then act in a German play, for the first time in many years. There will be given a representation of Modern opera at the Academy, on Saturday evening, with the same charitable intent. This evening, the great receipts of the Paris Favil on Circus go to the afflicted people. At Association Hall, on Saturday afternoon, Signor ALBERTO, Mme. GARZANIGA, and many other artists will take part in a concert. At the Grand Opera-house, on Sunday evening, another concert will take place. A matinée performance of "Divorce" is to occur at the Fifth-avenue Theatre on Monday. Finally, on Tuesday afternoon of next week, the receipts of a rehearsal of "La Péstocle" at Lina Edwin's Theatre will be added by Mlle. ALMAN to the fund.

English and German Opera.

At the Academy of Music, this evening, Mme. PAREPA-ROSA, Mr. KARL and their fellow artists will be heard in "Lucrezia Borgia." At the Stadt Theatre, Herr WACHTEL will sing in "The Postillion of Longjumeau."

The Irish Drama.

The performances of "Eileen Oge," at the Grand Opera-house, this evening, will be for the benefit of Mr. W. J. FLORENCE, now quite recovered from the effects of a long continued illness.

GOV. SEWARD.

His Return to Auburn—Reception by the Citizens.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Secretary SEWARD was met at Syracuse by a large number of personal friends, who escorted him to Auburn, where the depot was crowded with citizens anxious to see and welcome their distinguished townsman. Reaching his residence he was received by Hon. MYRON H. MYERS, who made a brief speech of welcome, to which Mr. SEWARD responded as follows:

MR. MYERS AND MY FRIENDS: The words which you have spoken to me, and the pressure of the hand which you have given me, are what I have longed expect, and yet what I would have willingly avoided. I have found my neighbors and friends so often and so long that I have begun to feel that when I go away, at least, what I would like to speak over from them and to soften the sadness of parting is the nearest domestic relations do when they part. And when I come back I like to come in upon them by surprise, and meet them in their actions, walks and ways, perhaps the to them unconscious. And I think it is what has always happened to me in the course of so many years, whenever I have had occasion to go out of Auburn, sometimes nearer, sometimes further; sometimes upon the trail of duty, sometimes of study, sometimes of labor, sometimes of public responsibilities, and sometimes of personal interest. I never was met and so to speak by my neighbors and friends in the streets of my native village. It does often enter my lot to come back among you, sometimes from fields of enjoyment which have exhilarated, or might have excited myself, sometimes defeated, and with mortification, sometimes with disappointment, and sometimes chastened with disconsolateness which caused lightly be spoken of, and sometimes with public anxiety which cannot be expressed, and yet I never have come home without being received as a neighbor and a friend. Such neighbors and friends thereof all the attention and all the gratitude that I can say there is none only, at home, far, far more, than I have ever been a day or hour when I have not remembered them, and prayed for them when I might not be able to do more than pray for them. I never was more glad to come home again. I have had a long journey, which, in its incidents, seemed to many accounts, but I trust that all my neighbors and friends are now satisfied that it was reasonable. I found that in returning home to the country does which were before me, I was expected to enjoy rest from labors and cares, which I never thought to have to promise. I found that I had passed to my age and in my condition of health rest was rust, and nothing remained to prevent rust but to keep in motion.

I selected the way that would do the least harm, give the least offense, enable me to acquire the most knowledge, and most increase my power to serve my country and my good. In the course of my wanderings I have seen not all the nations, but some of the nations of every race on the earth. I have looked the white human family in the face, taken by the hand and conversed with my fellow-men in his lowest degradation and in his highest stages of civilization. I have spoken to them at a distance and no reason how that the character of an American patriot did not secure to me not merely safety, but also respect, consideration and affection. You may judge, therefore, whether, in returning to my own country, I have less reason to love and honor it.

My friends and neighbors, I have trespassed upon your patience and your strength in speaking these words to you. I have put my sincere and heartfelt thanks, and hope to pass now and on early future days to learn that happiness has been in all your dwellings, and that all the enterprises in which you are engaged have been crowned with success. I hope that I will be as all your friends during the long while, to the same affection and friendship which has been the great happiness of my life.

THE FENIANS.

A Raid Into Manitoba—Pursuit by United States Troops—O'Neil Conveniently Surrendered Again.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Oct. 12.—The following, dated 8th inst. Pembina, has been received by the Government:

"Fenians, under the command of Gen. O'DONOHUE, attempted to cross the border line on the 5th, at Georgetown, and on Monday last, the captured the Canadian Custom-house and the Hudson Bay post at Pembina. They were attacked and dispersed by United States troops, and Gen. O'NEIL, who was with them, was taken prisoner, together with 200 stand of arms. The main body of the Fenian Army of Invasion has crossed the border line at St. Joe, Minn. United States troops are after them, and it is reported that all the able-bodied men of Manitoba are under arms."

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—Further advices have been received confirmatory of the account of the Fenian attack on Pembina on the 8th inst. They met with no resistance there, the place not being garrisoned. It appears that O'DONOHUE has been planning an attack on Fort Garry all Summer, relying upon receiving support from the French half-breeds. The raid was intended to inspire them with confidence. He has been intriguing with workmen on the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad, counting on their help when work on the road stopped. He is said to be accompanied by O'NEIL, a Southern General, and had only about fifty men with him at Pembina, and they are now being driven back over the border. O'NEIL is said to have given himself up.

Preparations For the Execution of Wilson at Hartford.

HARTFORD, Oct. 12.—At noon to-morrow JAMES WILSON will be executed in the Prison yard for the murder of Warden WILLIAMS in 1870. He will suffer the extreme penalty of the law, and the gallows has already been prepared. WILSON is still defiant, and acts in a very insolent manner toward his keepers. The greatest vigilance was required to prevent his antici-pating the law's demand. It will be remembered that when sentenced the condemned replied to the Court in the following words:

"I have only to say that I do not feel that I have been tried. I am perfectly satisfied with the result. To be hanged will be an act of supreme mercy compared to being compelled to live in the Connecticut State Prison as I have been."

THE FIRE FIEND.

Fires Sweeping Over Forests, Farms, Villages and Towns.

Fearful Sacrifice of Human Life in Michigan and Wisconsin.

One Hundred and Fifty Persons Burned in a Barn—A Revenue Cutter Sent to Rescue the Inhabitants—The Town of Windsor, Canada, Destroyed—Dreadful Suffering.

IN MICHIGAN.

Villages and Farm-Houses Destroyed—Many Lives Lost—Fire Sweeping Over the Northern Part of the State.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 12.—News has just been received that the lumber portion of the City of Manistee, Mich., has been destroyed by fire. Manistee is on the east coast of Lake Michigan, a place of 5,000 inhabitants, and one of the greatest lumber-producing towns in the State. There is no telegraph station within thirty miles of the town. The cutter Jeppesden reached Port Huron this morning with refugees and news from the lake shore, two of whom are fatally burned. Port Austin escaped the flames.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 12.—The news from St. Clair and Huron Counties of this date is of the most distressing character. All that portion of the State east of Saginaw Bay and north of a point forty miles above Port Huron has been completely swept by fire. A number of persons perished, and it is feared we have not heard the worst. The flourishing villages of Forestville, White Rock, Elm Creek, Smithhead, and Huron City are entirely destroyed. Rock Falls and Port Hope are partially destroyed. Nothing has yet been heard from Port Austin or Port Crescent, but it is hardly possible that they escaped. At all these towns there were large mills, many of which were filled with lumber, extensive saw-mills, shingle-mills and docks covered with lumber, all of which have been swept away. It is said there is but one house left on the shore about Forestville. A steamer which left Port Huron last night for the relief of the sufferers, returned this evening with about forty men, women and children, five of whom are severely burned. The revenue cutter Jeppesden, which started for Port Austin, picked up a sail-boat on the lake, containing ISAAC GREEN, principal owner of Forestville, together with his family and eighteen or twenty others, who had escaped the flames at Forestville. The telegraph operator at Forestville escaped through the fire back into the country. All the telegraph offices along the shore have been destroyed, but communication will be restored at once as the damage done to the lines can be repaired. Five children are known to have perished near Rock Falls. E. B. HUBBARD, at Union City, also all his fine horses and cattle to prevent their perishing by fire. He loses very heavily, having had a store, mills, docks, &c. The extensive property of STARWOOD & HAYWARD, at Port Hope, is about the only one which escaped. Five thousand dollars was subscribed to-night for the relief of the sufferers of this State. The light rain of yesterday seems to have greatly abated the fires throughout the State, and it is believed the worst is passed. There is scarcely a county in the State but that has suffered more or less from fire, and the loss will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars. The damage to the pine land is incalculable. Saginaw City only escaped destruction through the determined efforts of her citizens, who fought the fire back. The town of Bridgeport was only saved from destruction by a shower of rain yesterday morning.

At Holland, on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan, the flames made a clean sweep, scarcely a building being left. The suffering people were promptly cared for by the Mayor, and citizens of Grand Haven. Prof. CHARLES SCOTT, of Hope College, perished; also a minister, whose name was not ascertained.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 12.—Secretary BOUTWELL this morning received the following telegram:

PORT HURON, Mich., Oct. 12.—The villages and houses along the coast, from the foot of Lake Huron around into Saginaw Bay, are experiencing a dreadful conflagration. It is in the woods. Hundreds of people have been burned out and are starving. We ask orders for the revenue steamer Jeppesden to go along the coast and relieve the sufferers as long as necessary. The Jeppesden has been up and is now here. The people in the woods have driven stock before them to escape burning. Over 200 have been brought here already. We are doing all we can, and need the service of this vessel. Answer immediately.

(Signed,) O. D. CONGER, M. C.
J. H. SAMBORN,
Collector of Customs.

The Secretary, in reply, ordered the commanding officer of the Jeppesden to report to Collector SAMBORN, in accordance with his request.

KINCARDINE, Ontario, Oct. 12.—A boat containing two men, a woman and nine children and the dead body of a child who had died from exhaustion, arrived here yesterday, from Point Beach, Michigan, having left there on Monday to escape the fires raging in the neighborhood. High winds and the dense smoke rendered their boat-steering very difficult, they made the best headway they could, but ran out of provisions before the whole time. They arrived famished and completely exhausted. Clothing has been given them and those who have been attended to.

IN WISCONSIN.

Fearful Loss of Life at Pinkney—Seventy-Five Persons Burned at Little Sturgeon Bay.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—A dispatch has just been received from Green Bay, Wis., stating that a steamer had just arrived bringing a report that 225 bodies were buried at Pinkney last night, and as many more are still missing. Seventy-five persons were burned to death at Little Sturgeon Bay, and the suffering throughout the north is terrible. With the exception of the loss of property the calamity is almost as appalling as the burning of Chicago.

The Detroit Post says:

The forests are being swept away. Houses, barns, accumulated grain, lumber-mills, whole villages, large and small, are extinguished. As long as the drouth and the violent winds continue, this destruction will continue. It is therefore impossible to estimate the extent of the demands upon the benevolence and charity of the whole country to all these sufferers. We trust, therefore, that it will not be forgotten that the destruction of property, is not the greatest loss of life and property, may equal it they do not surpass the loss of life. We hope the people, in considering the distress of that day, so concentrated and intense, for as not forget the demands which the country that helped make Chicago has upon our charitable consideration. These remarks apply also to our own citizens.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 12.—Intelligence had just been received here that a fire broke out in the town of Manistee, Mich., at 10 o'clock on Sunday night, and raged until 5 on Monday morning, destroying 200 buildings, six large mills, and a vessel lying at the dock. Half of the entire town is burned. The loss is estimated at $1,200,000.

One Hundred and Fifty Men Burned to Death at Green Bay.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Further accounts of the terrible calamity have been received. One hundred and fifty men were burned to death in a large barn in which they had taken refuge. Hundreds of people were driven by the flames into the river, where most of them perished.

The latest dispatch from Green Bay says on Sunday night a fire broke out on the Belgian settlement of Brussels, in Door County, Wis., destroying 150 houses, all the place contained excepting five. Nine persons are missing. It is supposed they perished in the flames. The inhabitants lost everything. Active measures for their relief are being taken from Duluth and other places, but before assistance can reach them they must suffer severely.

IN CANADA.

The Town of Windsor, Ont., in Flames—Fires in the Woods.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 12.—This morning an alarm of fire was given in Windsor, opposite Detroit. In a few minutes the flames spread in every direction, consuming the principal portion of the city. The [illegible] Railroad depot was saved through the exertions of the railroad employes. There was no wind, or probably not a building would have escaped. A man was arrested while in the act of firing a building, and was lodged in jail.

WINDSOR, Ontario, Oct. 12.—A fire broke out in McGregor's Bank, opposite Hiram's House, burning the whole block up to the Western Hotel, east. Hiram's House is now on fire; the Post-office, telegraph office, Great Western Railroad Station, and many other buildings have been destroyed. The Detroit fire engines have arrived, and the flames are being subdued.

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—Disastrous fires continue to rage in the woods in Western Ontario.

OHIO AND IOWA.

Confirmation of the Republican Success in Ohio—Iowa Remains Still Debatable, Hand.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Private dispatches from Ohio confirm the first statements of Republican success, but full details are not yet given. A dispatch from Columbus states that the Legislature will be Republican by twenty majority at least on joint ballot. A dispatch from Gen. LEGGETT, Commissioner of Patents, dated Cleveland, says the Legislature is certainly Republican. Iowa has sent in returns very slowly. The most interesting question in the canvass there was regarding the choice of United States Senator. The returns do not enable the Iowans here to forecast the probabilities in this respect.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 12.—The result of Tuesday's election with regard to the Legislature is now pretty well settled. The Senate will stand: Republicans, 18; Democrats, 15. House—Republicans, 59; Democrats, 45; Independent, 1. The Republican majority on joint ballot will be 16. Gen. HOYT'S majority for Governor will be about 22,000.

CINCINNATI, Oct 12.—In fifty-two counties on the State ticket the reported Republican gain is 4,500. The Legislature will probably stand—Senate, 18 Democrats, 17 Republicans; House, 56 Republicans, 47 Democrats. The Hamilton County delegation will stand—Senate, 1 Republican, 3 Democrats; House, 6 Republicans, 5 Democrats.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—The official returns show STOCKLEY'S majority to be 9,000; STANTON, 11,000; MANN, 2,000; BROWN, for Coroner, 15,801. No disturbances occurred at the meeting, which is rather unusual. The Sheriff offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the murderer of GOWAYNE OAKES. The City Council will offer an additional reward at their meeting this afternoon.

THE DEMOCRATIC PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE.

Rumors of a Withdrawal from the Contest—An Emergent Movement.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—In conversation today Gen. BUTLER expressed the opinion that in view of the result of the late elections, he thought it doubtful if the Democrats would nominate a candidate for the Presidency. This is probably something more than mere opinion. It happens to exactly coincide with what is known here regarding a very important movement among prominent Democrats in this very direction. This movement has thus far chiefly developed itself in the West, where Ex-Senator HENDRICKS is said to be promoting it, and in the interest of which the Louisville Ledger and the Bourbons of Kentucky have completely changed front within the past few weeks. The coming man pointed to is Hon. DAVID DAVIS, of the Supreme Court, who is to come to the front under the auspices of the disaffected and so-called conservative Republicans, and to be accepted by the Democrats. The current of this movement is very perceptible, and is attracting much attention already publicly.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA KUKLUX.

Proclamation of the President of the United States Warning the Bands to Disperse in Five Days.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The President today issued the following proclamation to the Kuklux of certain counties in South Carolina, giving the five days' notice required by the Kuklux law, or, as it is locally known, the Enforcement act, to the bands, requiring them to disperse, deliver up their arms, disguises, &c.

By the President of the United States of America:

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, Unlawful combinations and conspiracies have long existed and do still exist in the State of South Carolina, for the purpose of depriving certain portions and classes of the people of that State of the rights, privileges, immunities and protection named in the Constitution of the United States and secured by the acts of Congress approved April 20, 1871, entitled "An act to enforce the provisions of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States"; and

Whereas, in certain parts of said State, to wit, in the counties of Spartanburg, York, Marion, Chester, Laurens, Union, Newberry, Fairfield, Lancaster and Chesterfield, such combinations and conspiracies do so obstruct and hinder the execution of the laws of said State and of the United States as to deprive the people aforesaid of the rights, privileges, immunities and protection aforesaid, and do oppose and obstruct the laws of the United States and their due execution, and impede and obstruct the due course of justice under the same; and

Whereas, The constituted authorities of said State are unable to protect the people aforesaid in such rights within the said counties; and

Whereas, The combinations and conspiracies aforesaid within the counties aforesaid, are organized and carried on for the purpose and so powerful as to be able to defy the constituted authorities of said State and of the United States within the said State; and by reason of said causes the conviction of such offenders and the preservation and punishment of the evidences of their crimes cannot be secured in said counties; now, therefore, I, ULYSSES S. GRANT, President of the United States of America, do hereby command all persons composing the unlawful combinations and conspiracies aforesaid to disperse, and to retire peaceably to their homes within five days of the date hereof, and to deliver either to the Marshal of the United States for the District of South Carolina, or to any of his deputies, or to any military officer of the United States within said counties, all arms, ammunition, uniforms, disguises, and other means and implements used, kept, possessed or controlled by them for carrying out the unlawful purposes for which the combinations and conspiracies are engaged.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, the twelfth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, and of the independence of the United States of America the ninety-sixth. U. S. GRANT.

By the President:
HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.

This is not a proclamation of martial law, and does not necessarily lead to it, though it is probable that to effect the arrests which will follow, the military will have to be used as something more than a posse comitatus, as has already been stated in these dispatches. The information of the Government in regard to this organization is very full, and of a character to render the arrest of many of the leaders a matter of certainty. A large number of names of persons in the organization has already been obtained, with evidence of their complicity. Indeed, so skilfully have the plans of the Government agents been carried out, that some of them, entering upon their hazardous work secretly, have even reported each other in good faith as members of the Klans. In this way the secrets of the Order have been laid bare, and, with the multitudes of arrests and convictions which are to follow within the next sixty days, the organization will be broken up effectually. In addition to other evidence obtained are numerous facts going to show that not only is the order far more numerous and formidable than has been supposed, and that it includes many of the prominent men in the South, but that its purposes embraced the complete control of all the Southern States, in the next Presidential election, through a reign of intimidation and terror. Attorney-General AKERMAN is personally on the ground in South Carolina.

POLITICAL TRICKERY.

Mayor Hall Refuses to Give to the People a List of Election Inspectors.

He Has Not Heard of any Dissatisfaction with Last Year's Inspectors—The Class of Men that Have Been Appointed—What the Mayor Says.

The Subcommittee on Elections of the Committee of Seventy met last night at their rooms in Broadway, Mr. JOSEPH H. CHOATE in the chair. The meeting was private, but it was understood that the subject discussed was the preventing of frauds during the ensuing election. It was also stated that a letter had been received from Mayor HALL, declining to give a list of the inspectors of elections appointed by him, and saying that he had yet to learn that any dissatisfaction had been expressed with the inspectors who acted at the last election.

Yesterday was set apart at the Bureau of Elections for the appointment of election inspectors. When our reporter visited the office about fifty of the appointees were in waiting to sign the registers, while others were handing in their resignations written on the back of the notifications sent to them by the Mayor. Among the latter class several Germans were observed, who were apparently anxious to have their resignations accepted, probably wishing to avoid the chance of being called upon to do the dirty work of the Tammany Ring at the polls. A list of the names of inspectors was asked for from one of the clerks, and our reporter was referred to one who seemed to be in authority. This gentleman, in answer to the request, said that it was impossible to grant it. The appointments had not yet been made, and would not be made for some time to come.

REPORTER—When will the list be ready?

CLERK—That is more than I can tell. The appointments may not be made for all of the districts before election time.

REPORTER—I thought it was customary to publish a list of the inspectors before every election?

CLERK—Well, we used to do so, but we can't at present. Since the injunction has been laid on the City authorities, we have no money to pay for the advertisement, and no paper will publish it gratis.

REPORTER—I think I can promise its publication.

CLERK—It is impossible to give you a list. We haven't got the time to do it. This thing is left to the last moment. Next Tuesday will be the first day for registration.

REPORTER—I can get a list, I suppose, on that day, then?

CLERK—You can't get a full list. Inspectors will be resignine, and new appointments will have to be made until the day of election.

REPORTER—I thought the inspectors who sat on the days of registration, were obliged by law to attend on the day of election unless prevented by sickness?

CLERK—No, Sir, you are mistaken; they are often changed afterward by reason of sickness, declination, or for other causes.

REPORTER—Then you will not permit me to copy a list of those appointed by the Mayor?

CLERK—No, Sir. In all civility I cannot. It would be of no service to you, as the list is not complete.

REPORTER—That would make no difference. Is this the only place from which I could obtain a list?

CLERK—Yes, Sir, and you won't be able to get one for a couple of weeks.

REPORTER—Then I understand positively that you will not publish a list?

CLERK—No, Sir; we are not required to do so by law, and we shall not, because the lists of appointments are exclusively for our own use.

REPORTER—Have you received many resignations today?

CLERK—Yes, they are sending in resignations, and other men will have to be appointed, and I suppose it will be so every day until the election. We are overrun with work.

The clerk then hurried into the private office of Mr. CORNELIUS CORSON, the Chief of the Bureau, and the man of many sinecures. The reporter lingered a few minutes to scan the personnel of the men intrusted with the counting of the ballots to be cast in the great contest between honesty and dishonesty. If physiognomy is a good test of character, most of them have not much of the latter. With some respectable and honest looking persons, there was a large admixture of the genus homo known as Ward politicians—men who make a business of politics to the exclusion of all.

It is interesting to compare the statement of the official in the Bureau of Election, given above, with the following communication which the Mayor sent to the TIMES office yesterday:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, NEW-YORK, Oct. 12, 1871.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The Mayor desires me to correct misrepresentations regarding the number of election inspectors whom he has the discretion to appoint. There are 720 Democrats. Of these, 627 have been elected, and have either been duly sworn in during last Autumn or now appointed. Thus the responsibility for 627 has been assumed. The remaining 93 Democrats are to fill the democratic vacancies for the Mayor's certificate of appointment. These are caused by removals from the Ward, by death, or by refusal of the Mayor to appoint. Some of these elected in the Wards in his opinion unsuitable or cannot be found, or because districts have been diminished to conform to the laws of 1871. This table of vacancies is as follows: One in the First, Seventh, Fourteenth and Fifteenth Wards; two in the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Twelfth and sixteenth; four in the Third and Tenth; five in the Eighteenth; nine in the Eleventh and Twentieth; ten in the Twenty-first; eleven in the Sixth; sixteen in the Twenty-second; seventeen in the Ninth, and forty-four in the Nineteenth Wards. In the Second, Third, Thirteenth and Seventeenth Wards there are no vacancies. There are 320 Republicans elected; of these 293 have been voted for at the last election, and being third highest were either duly appointed last Autumn or reselected now thereby to that extent paying responsible duty to the Republican power. There will have to be 120 for selection, to be distributed as follows: Two in the Fifth Ward, three in the Eleventh, four in the Third, Ninth, Fifteenth and Eighteenth; five in the Fourth and Twelfth; six in the Sixth and Fourteenth; seven in the Second, Seventh, Tenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first and Twenty-second; eight in the Nineteenth; nine in the Eleventh; ten in the Sixteenth; eleven in the Seventeenth; twelve in the Thirteenth; fifteen in the [illegible] and fifteen in the Fifth. Unless vacancies are hereafter created by resignation or declination or other causes, the total number to be appointed by the Mayor, therefore, amounts to only 93 out of 1,170, whole number of inspectors. No vacancies were deemed created either last year or in this year by reason of change of boundaries, because inspectors are chosen on Ward tickets.

CHARLES O. JOLINE, Chief Clerk.

The Mayor says that there are misapprehensions "regarding the numbers of inspectors which he has discretion to appoint." The law says that the inspectors of each district must be elected or appointed from the districts in which they reside. If the boundaries of the districts are changed the Mayor, by the reading of the law, would have a pretext to throw them out and make appointments of his own, but he does not need to do this in order to attain his ends, as the inspectors already chosen are generally creatures of the Ring. By the radical change in district boundaries made this year he has many pretexts for such action, and has discretion to appoint new inspectors for each district so changed. The 627 Democratic inspectors elected on the Tammany ticket last year did not require to be changed this year, for they showed in many instances a willingness to count falsely for Tammany as soon as the check put upon them by the Government supervisors was withdrawn after the Congressional ticket was counted. Several of them were caught in the act, and HAGERTY, now awaiting trial for the vouchers burglary, is charged with false conuting in the district of which he was inspector. The Mayor has further discretion, as appears from his circular, to refuse to appoint men elected if he deems them unsuitable, and vacancies are caused because districts have been diminished to conform to the laws of 1871. It might be well to ask here who the Mayor considers to be unsuitable? To be an inspector is it necessary to be willing to assist in rolling up Tammany majorities? And what does the Mayor mean by districts being diminished? There are at present three more districts this year than last. This would call for nine more inspectors. A district cannot be so diminished as to require less than three inspectors, as the law explicitly requires that number in each district. Death or removal from the Ward are good and legal reasons that new appointments should be made by the Mayor. But by what right does he refuse to confirm, by appointment, inspectors elected by the people, because he deems them unsuitable, and what does he mean by vacancies caused by diminished districts, unless he refers to vacancies caused by change of boundaries, which he regards as a pretext for creating a vacancy? The Mayor says that he has only 143 Democrats to appoint and 130 Republicans.

The official at the Bureau of Elections, yesterday, told the TIMES reporter that restrictions were coming in, and that there would be changes to be made until the day of election.

It is certainly a wonderful coincidence that vacancies should have occurred in every Ward in the City except the Second Ward, which has but two election districts, and polled but 339 votes in 1870.

It is stated upon good authority that, together with a list of inspectors sent in by TWEED, another from HANK SMITH was sent to the Mayor for his approval last Tuesday. Let the electors in the different districts interested in honest government look well to their inspectors.

Is Garvey in Canada?

On Tuesday, the check of ANDREW J. GARVEY for $304 was presented to the Broadway Bank, and payment refused for lack of funds. "Where is GARVEY?" was the anxious inquiry of the holder of the check, and straightway an investigation of Mr. GARVEY'S whereabouts was instituted by the victim. "Cleared out," was his suspicion, and, as he reports, it was correct. "I went to JOHN GARVEY," he says, "and he told me that ANDY had gone to Canada. I asked him why he did not get my money on the check, and he was indignant. He said there was plenty of money in the Broadway Bank, but the Broadway Bank says there isn't, and so I told him. Then he promised to pay me himself; but why did ANDY clear out?"

It was at first rumored that Mr. GARVEY had gone to Europe, the fleece of the gentlemen; for his name, it is said, is connected with the Ring, but it appears that Mr. GARVEY'S objective point was Canada.

Light from all Sides.

From the Evening Mail.

We can imagine the confusion of an intelligent foreigner who should endeavor to get at the exact present situation of our municipal contest from a careful reading of the morning papers of this City today. Suppose, for instance, that he should take up the TIMES, Tribune and World, and try to learn the truth about the alleged conspiracy to oust Deputy Controller GREEN. In the first of these papers he would find the following:

"Many people hoped that the long contest against the Ring was nearly ended. In reality it was never in a much more critical state—for the reformers—than at this moment. The Tweed gang are determined to control the Controller's office before election day, so that they may be able to put their repeaters on the rolls and 'rake' in the money. This move will be successful unless public opinion makes itself instantly felt. The pretense is to get rid of CONNOLLY—who is already got rid of to all good purposes; the real object is to turn Mr. ANDREW H. GREEN out of the Controller's Office."

The World, on the other hand, loses its temper over previous assertions by the TIMES of a like character with those which we have quoted, uses bad language, and continues:

"If Mr. CONNOLLY loses his place by death, resignation, impeachment or otherwise, Mr. ANDREW H. GREEN is the only man in this community whose appointment as Controller would be tolerated for one instant by the people at the hands of Mayor HALL."

We think this worth copying, if for no other reason than that we want to hold the World to the wisest and truest utterance it has made during this whole Municipal contest.

But the World says further:

"We have several times called attention to the fact that for practical remedies to the maladministration of our City affairs we have been to Democrats sorely indebted, and shall hereafter be indebted to them solely. The TIMES cannot help the fact to its past: All that we have pointed so far is the placing of Mr. GREEN in the Controller's office.—Times, Oct. 11.

The placing of Mr. GREEN in the Controller's office was the sole work of Mr. SAMUEL J. TILDEN, reformers, the Democratic Convention in the management of the present campaign, on the heels of his avowal that he would vote for no Tammany local or legislative ticket."

Now we turn from the World to the Tribune, which through an interviewing reporter has placed Mr. TILDEN himself on the stand. Evidently the World is not qualified just now to act as Mr. TILDEN'S counsellor, for he believes that there is a conspiracy to remove CONNOLLY, in order to get rid of the present firm and incorruptible acting Controller, Mr. GREEN. Mr. TILDEN is thus reported in the Tribune:

"There is such an intrigue, and the object of it is to get rid of Mr. GREEN as Deputy Controller. It is concocted by men who are the real authors of the crimes which they charge upon Mr. CONNOLLY, and who wish to divert public attention from the real authors and cast blame on Mr. CONNOLLY. Mr. KEYES states that nearly $1,000,000 in warrants made out to him are forgeries as to his indorsement. Now, the receipt of the money upon these vouchers is traceable, not to Mr. CONNOLLY, but to the men who are conspiring to wreck him through the Press, to intimidate him and force him to resign, that they may put a tool of their own in charge of the finances of this City."

We have every reasod to believe that Mr. TILDEN is correct in his apprehensions. That there is such a plot as that to which he refers, there can be no doubt. We wish there were some chance for disbelieving that this desperate game would be played, but the information that we have received is such that we cannot avoid its irresistible force on our mind. In this emergency we feel it to be our duty to warn the people of the danger that is imminent, and to appeal to all who have influence with the Mayor to use it for the retention of ANDREW H. GREEN in the Controller's office until we have a reformed City Government in which the people have confidence. If no longer, Today Mr. GREEN is the sustainer of the City's credit, her bulwark against dishonest officials, and the most trusted public servant New-York has had for a generation. No good end can be secured by his removal at this juncture, and were he removed today there would result a chaotic and disheartening condition of affairs, out of which not one of his enemies could escape unharmed, whatever other results might follow.

THE QUEEN'S CUP.

Mr. Ashbury Finally Accedes to the Proposition of the New-York Yacht Club—The Races to Commence Monday.

Considerable correspondence has passed between Commodore ASHBURY and the Committee appointed by the Club to make arrangements for the race, and during the past few days they arrived at no satisfactory arrangement. Yesterday, however, Commodore ASHBURY reconsidered the proposal of the Committee to sail six races, three over the regatta course, and three from Sandy Hook light-ship, twenty miles to wind'ward and return, with the proviso of a re-sail over the latter course, in case the boats both won three out of the six. As the Club did not show the slightest inclination to sail twelve races, Commodore ASHBURY has concluded to accept the six as proposed, and wrote to the Committee last night to that effect. The first race will be sailed over the regular Club course, on Monday, and the second on the Sandy Hook course, and so on alternately each race. The Club will select their representative from the Columbia, Dauntless, Sappho and Palmer on the morning of the race. After the Queen's Cup races are over, the Livonia will sail several private matches, commencing probably with the Dreadnaught.

The following letter has been sent to Mr. ASHBURY:

OFFICE OF THE SPIRIT OF THE TIMES,
NEW-YORK, Oct. 11, 1871.

James Ashbury, Esq.:

MY DEAR SIR: I have seen it stated in some of the daily papers that you would like to sail the Livonia against the Dreadnaught, for a cup, from the point of Sandy Hook around the lightship and back three times. If you are really willing to do so, I accept your terms without any modification, and will sail it on Thursday next. As the Dreadnaught needs some conditioning for such an important race, an early reply is solicited. Very respectfully,

S. SAMUELS.

Tammany General Committee—Mr. Tweed Confident.

The meeting of the Tammany Democratic-Republican General Committee, held last evening, at the wigwam in Fourteenth-street, was a very tame affair indeed. Although the hall was full, the audience was markedly composed of the lighter weights of Democratic circles. There was hardly a well-known politician present beside the President, WM. M. TWEED, who looked very much worn out, and the Secretary, WM. HITCHMAN. To be sure MICHAEL SHANDLEY smoked a "Henry Clay" moodily away in the background on the stage, and a few of the Assistant Aldermen roamed uneasily among the scenery in the wings. Altogether it is fair to say that the Tammany "braves" looked more like chanting the death-song than sounding the war-whoop. To arouse this drooping spirit of the little red men the "Boss" Sachem TWEED aroused himself and his dull eye essayed a sparkle, but failed. He cleared his throat, however, and spun out a pean descriptive of his anticipations of a glorious triumph awaiting the Tammany men in the coming month. "My friends," said he, smiling blandly without a shirt collar—(his position is so hot that his neck felt uncomfortable.)—" from the advices I have received from reliable sources throughout the State, I assure you that our Democratic State ticket must be elected next month. Nothing need be said, I think, to impress upon you the necessity of a vigorous effort to conduct matters satisfactorily in this City. You must see that your voters register as fully as possible." Remember, however, that the new law affords every man an opportunity to vote, when prevented from registering by adventitious circumstances, such as unavoidable absence from the City at the time for registering." With a great deal of promise of future success for his own party, the speaker concluded, and the Secretary, WM. HITCHMAN, read that the primaries will be held in each Ward on Oct. 16; the Senatorial Convention on the 19th; the Assembly Convention on the 20th, and the City and County Conventions on the 24th. A recess was then taken, and the places in which the primaries shall be held were decided upon and finally read. The meeting then adjourned.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The President, accompanied by the Secretary of War and the Post-master-General, will leave here to-morrow night to attend the Post-office corner-stone ceremonies at Boston on Monday. Secretary BOUTWELL will leave in the morning for the same purpose, and will not accompany the party to Maine, but return to this city early next week. Secretaries DELANO and ROBESON returned today from Ohio. Secretary FISH does not go to Boston. All the Cabinet are now here, except Attorney-General AKERMAN. Commissioner DOUGLASS returned from Pennsylvania today.

GENEROUS AID FOR CHICAGO.

The response of the people of Washington to the appeals of the Chicago sufferers is most noble, and in proportion to its wealth and the character of its population, is probably the most generous of any of the examples. Even the school children brought their contributions today, nearly $1,000 in amount, beside wagon-loads of clothing. Last, but not least of all, the laboring women of the Treasury Department, who scrub the floors and receive but fifty cents per day, added each a day's pay to the fund. The total contribution of Washington will probably reach $150,000.

Union League Club—Republican Nominations Endorsed.

At the monthly meeting of the Union League Club, held last evening, the following preamble and resolutions, presented by Mr. SINCLAIR TOUSEY, were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, We are on the eve of an election the results of which are of the first importance to the people of our State and the United States; and,

Whereas, The candidates placed in nomination for high offices by the Democratic Convention recently held at Rochester, are men of character, fitted by previous public training to fill those offices with honor to themselves and benefit to the people; and,

Whereas, The acceptance of said nominations at a time when the public mind is appalled at the robberies by the officials elected by that institution, stamps the nominees as totally unfit for places of public trust, and

Whereas, The candidates placed in nomination for the same offices by the Republican Convention recently held at Syracuse, are men of character free from affiliation with corrupt officials and "Rings" or public plunderers; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Union League Club heartily indorses the nominations made at Syracuse, and pledges said nominations its most cordial support, and calls on all good citizens throughout the State, regardless of party, to aid in their election, to the end that our public affairs may be administered by men worthy of the trusts confided to their care.

Resolved, That the Secretary furnish copies of the foregoing to the conductors of the City Press.

Capt. HENRY A. ELLIS, Fifteenth Infantry, was tried by general Court-martial at Fort Union, New-Mexico, in August last, and being found guilty of the charges made, has been dismissed the service.

The Metropolitan Insurance Company.

In 1865 this Company received more premiums in New-York City than any other Company. In 1866 it was most unfortunate in having the largest amount at risk in Portland; the Company paid its immense losses promptly, reduced its capital to Three Hundred Thousand Dollars, and undertook the arduous and dangerous task of reducing a widely-scattered business to absolute control.

In 1870, in view of the demoralization attending the transaction of agency business, and the persistent determination of larger companies to have business, even at ruinous rates, the Metropolitan modestly withdrew all its agencies, and has since confined its business to the Metropolitan District. Whether wisely or not, the Company has thereby escaped the dreadful conflagration at Chicago, and stands ready to insure merchandise risks in this City which the officers have persistently declined at the rates ruling before the Chicago fire.

Merchants should remember the Metropolitan is its designation, have always been honorable, and having paid Five Million Dollars in losses, the officers know how to meet them, and how to adjust them equitably.—Evening Express.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

At the Exchange yesterday, Oct. 12, JAMES McGUIRE, by order of the Supreme Court in foreclosure, under the direction of JAMES H. COLEMAN, Esq., referee, sold a five-story brick tenement-house and lot—the latter 25 by 92—located on the north side of Seventeenth-street, between First-avenue and Avenue A, for $14,975—a price considered fair. The property was bought by JOHN OATES. The same auctioneer, under a similar Court order, JOSEPH KOCH, Esq., referee, also sold a three-story brick house and lot—latter 16.6 by 100—on the north side of Fifty-seventh-street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues, for $7,750—a low figure. The premises were purchased by ISAAC SCHEIMAN.

R. R. HAZARD, Jr., as a Supreme Court sale, disposed of a vacant lot, 19.3 by 80, located on the southeast corner of Church and Lispenard streets, which was purchased by C. A. BUSH for $19,950.

JAMES M. MILLER, also under a Supreme Court order in foreclosure, WALTER L. LIVINGSTON, Esq., referee, sold a three-story brick dwelling-house and lot—the latter 21 by 92—on the south side of Twenty-first-street, between Second and Third avenues, for $10,000. Purchaser, MARGARET C. CORNELL, one of the parties in interest.

ARTHUR J. BLEECKER, SON & CO., at public auction, sold four building lots, each 25 by 100, situated on the south side of One Hundred and Forty-seventh-street, 125 feet east of Eighth-avenue, for $9,000 each. Bought by WM. H. HARRIS. The same auctioneer also disposed of a number of other west side lots, as follows, which although not sold, were knocked down at the figures noted: Four lots, south side of One Hundred and Forty-seventh-street, 125 feet west of Seventh-avenue, $6,325 each; four lots adjoining above in the rear, north side of One Hundred and Forty-sixth-street, 100 feet west of Seventh-avenue, $5,400 each, and two lots north side of Sixty-first-street, 200 feet east of Tenth-avenue, $6,350 each. No other purchase was transacted.

In reference to the suburban auctions held yesterday, namely, at Richmond Hill, Long Island, JOHNSON & MILLER, auctioneers, and at Bayside, Long Island, on the line of the Flushing and North Shore Railroad, by WM. WHITE, auctioneer, reports will be published to-morrow if received. The sale of lots at Orange, N. J., under the direction of R. R. HAZARD, Jr., expected to occur yesterday, did not take place, owing to the unpropitious weather, but was adjourned until next week to a day of which due notice will be given.

To-day, at the Exchange, a house and lot on Forty-third-street, between Third and Fourth avenues, will be offered at auction by JOSEPH McGUIRE, under a Supreme Court order. The sale will probably close the business of the week.

INTERNATIONAL INSURANCE COMPANY. No. 113 Broadway.

Cash Capital - - $500,000

NEW-YORK, Oct. 10, 1871.

In view of the general alarm created by the immense losses consequent upon the recent fire in Chicago, it may be proper to state on behalf of this Company that, if all our risks in the burned district should prove total losses, they will not absorb much more than our net reserve, leaving our capital and assets $900,000.

Our policy of assuming very moderate risks in amount, and demanding adequate rates for the hazard incurred, having been so signally justified by the great Chicago fire, will be strictly adhered to in the future as in the past.

DESOLATED CHICAGO.

yesterday, and appointed the following committee to receive subscriptions: Messrs. Marsh, Blankman, Noble, Kirkland, Barton, Hyde, Grimwood, Langley, Taylor and Myer.

Among the first to arrive here from the grocery trade of Chicago was Mr. WM. M. HOYT, who called upon his creditors yesterday, and assured them that he was prepared to meet all his obligations at maturity. For some, to accomplish this, it will undoubtedly be necessary to make heavy sacrifices; but Chicago merchants are showing how, as ever before, that they appreciate commercial honor and integrity more than capital.

Mr. WILLIAM V. KING, of No. 141 Pearl-street, will receive donations of clothing, or will send for them to any portion of the City or Brooklyn upon notification.

RELIEF FROM OTHER CITIES.

Meeting in London—Ten Thousand Pounds Subscribed.

LONDON, Oct. 12—Midnight.—In response to the call of the American Minister for a meeting to express sympathy and provide relief for the people of Chicago, over 400 American and English gentlemen assembled at the Lanzham Hotel to-night. The parlors of the hotel were crowded to excess, and many persons were unable to obtain admittance. The meeting organized with Hon. REAR. C. SCHENCK as Chairman. Brief but stirring appeals were made by several speakers. Maps of the unfortunate city, with the burnt quarter designated, had been hung on the walls, and were explained by gentlemen well acquainted with the ground. One of the speakers drew a parallel between the conflagration in Chicago and the great fire in London, which elicited prolonged applause. But the enthusiasm which was evident from the opening of the meeting needed no stimulus. Everybody was eager to contribute, and within a short time from the opening of the list £10,000 sterling was subscribed, even cent. Conspicuous among the subscribers were several Confederates, who requested that their names should not appear. A few merchants in Chicago, whose establishments were destroyed by the fire, also offered their contributions, amid the cheers of the assemblage. Resolutions, expressing the deepest sympathy for the sufferers and pledging further aid, were adopted by acclamation. A committee was appointed, with J. S. MORGAN, Esq., and Mr. SCHENCK at its head, to procure additional subscriptions in London and throughout the kingdom, and there is every reason to expect that a very large sum will be raised. Expressions of sympathy were received by telegraph and by mail from all parts of the country, and read by the chairman. Among the well-known persons present were Hon. A. G. Curtin, Minister to Russia, Gen. A. E. Burnside, Major-Gen. J. G. Barnard; Hon. Hugh McCulloch; Messrs. Moran and Woodbull, of the American Legation; Adam Badeau, Consul-General at London; Hon. William E. Dodge, of New-York; John J. Cisco, of New-York; Messrs. Munn, Starring, Habicht, Bowles, Randolph, Clay, George Wilkes, Boughton, the artist, and Thaddeus Hyatt. Many eminent Englishmen also attended the meeting, and manifested their interest in its objects liberally by word and deed.

The British Government Offer Five Hundred Thousand Blankets—A Response from Dublin.

QUEBEC, Oct. 12.—A cable telegram has been received here by Mr. JAMES ROSS, from the City of Dublin, to forward £500 sterling to Chicago.

A cable dispatch has been received from the English Government to offer to Chicago all the military tents and blankets in the Dominion; of the latter there are over 500,000.

An Appeal to the Churches for Contributions.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 12.—The following dispatch was received today by Archbishop SPALDING:

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.

Archbishop Spalding, Baltimore Cathedral:

Six churches, orphan asylums, hospitals, House of the Good Shepherd, schools, charitable institutions, and the Bishop's house, are injured. Over 100,000 people are homeless. I beg you for a general collection in all your churches next Sunday. The Superintendent of the Telegraph Company asks you to repeat this message to the prelates of the country, as our wires are too crowded and few. Request all remittances to be made to yourself.

(Signed.) THOS. FOLEY,
Bishop of Chicago.

The Work Commenced During Rain Continues.

The unanimity with which the towns and villages of our own country are contributing aid of all kinds, is well expressed in the following paragraph from the dispatches from Chicago:

To give a list of all the cities, towns and villages in the country that, without waiting for a request, have forwarded beautiful assortments of provisions, blankets and clothing to Chicago, would be necessary to furnish a complete gazetteer of the United States.

Brooklyn Aid for the Chicago Sufferers.

A telegram was received yesterday by JACOB L. BECKER, President of the Board of Aldermen, from the Mayor of Chicago, expressing gratitude for the relief sent to the sufferers of Brooklyn, and adding that their immediate wants are supplied.

The students of the Polytechnic have contributed $700 toward the relief of the sufferers.

In addition to the subscriptions made to the Chicago Relief Fund on Wednesday, $6,000 were added yesterday, making a total of $18,322 50.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Companies Affected by the Fire—Stock-Insurance Companies Crippled—The Hartford.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—A special dispatch to the Journal says:

The insurance companies of Providence affected by the Chicago fire are the Washington, Roger Williams, Hope, Atlantic and American. The condition this afternoon was as follows: The Washington has insurance there for $678,000 and assets of $430,000. They admit they are ruined. The American, calling their insurance there a total loss, will use up their capital and surplus here. The Hope on the same basis can pay ninety cents on the dollar. The Atlantic's are not as hopeful. The Atlantic and Washington are cancelling policies. The Roger Williams have just held a directors' meeting, and, calling their Chicago insurance a total loss, feel confident of paying in full and having a surplus, which they propose to increase by additional capital and continue business. The Washington will scarcely reorganize. Of other promises insurance companies here, the Narragansett had but $36,000, and the Merchants' but $13,000. The Economical Mutual Life had not a dollar invested in mortgage in Chicago, and makes no loss in any form there.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 12.—The following circular was issued from the office of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company today:

OFFICE HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE CO.,
HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 12, 1871.

To the Agents of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company:

The assets of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company Oct. 1 were $2,786,847. From reliable information from our general agent at Chicago, after an examination of his books, we estimate that our losses will not exceed $1,200,000, which will leave us with capital unimpaired and assets amounting to over $1,500,000. That we shall meet all our present and future obligations, and continue business successfully, is beyond question.

(Signed,) GEORGE L. CHASE, President.

The agent of the Liverpool and London Fire Insurance Company telegraphs as follows:

"Chicago losses probably under two and a half million. The directors in New-York are authorized to draw on London."

The Continental Insurance Company states that their capital remains unimpaired, and that it possesses a large earned surplus in addition thereto.

The entire risk of the Commerce Fire Insurance Company is only $80,350, mostly in small policies outside the burnt district. The loss is small.

The directors of the Lorillard have ordered their Chicago agent to pay all losses as fast as adjusted, and will continue business as usual.

The agents of the Union, of California, announce that the company is all right, and they continue to receive risks as usual.

The American Insurance Company, of New-Jersey, are losers by the great Chicago fire to the extent of $10,000, and their assets, after deducting all liabilities, are over $200,000.

The Imperial Fire Insurance Company state their losses will be $150,000 to $200,000, and not exceeding the latter amount.

The Franklin Fire Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, state that their loss will not exceed $600,000.

The Chicago and Alton Railroad Company report the following:

"Have lost general office, freight depot, and about one hundred freight cars; damage about $250,000. Principal warehouses on our own line not burned."

Disastrous Wall in Stocks.

All day yesterday a heavy feeling pervaded Wall-street, and bankers and brokers acted as if they were momentarily expecting some dire calamity. The situation was regarded as extremely perilous, and even worse than it was last Monday, when the full effect of the Chicago fire began to be felt. The operations of the day in the stock market resulted disastrously to all holders of stocks, for the decline was rapid and extensive.

Stock of Grain in Store at Chicago.

The Buffalo Express of Oct. 11, says: "It is easy to ascertain, very nearly with exactness, the quantity of grain that was in store at Chicago on Saturday night last, or twenty-four hours only before the outbreak of the great fire. Taking the quantity that was reported in store on the 2d inst., and adding to it the excess of receipts over shipments reported during the six days following, we have the amount that must have been held in store the night previous to the outbreaking of the fire, which appears to have been a little less than 7,000,000 bushels, all told. The figures in full are exhibited in the following tables:

Grain in store at Chicago on the 2d inst., compared with the previous week and with the corresponding date last year:

RECAPITULATION.

Grain in store at Chicago, Oct. 7:

	Bushels.		Bushels.
Wheat	1,602,500	Rye	446,626
Corn	2,607,226	Barley	559,495
Oats	1,559,544
Total			6,974,391

Of the 7,000,000 bushels that were in store at the time of the fire, it is not probable that more than 2,000,000 bushels, if so much, were consumed in the seven elevators reported burned. Some seven or eight elevators, on the north and south branches of the river, are undoubtedly intact, and they include most of the largest in the city. From 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 bushels are the probable quantity of grain destroyed, instead of 7,000,000, as has been rumored.

As a matter of interest to those who are studying the prospects of the grain market, resulting from the destruction of Chicago, necessarily interrupting and severely crippling the movement of breadstuffs from the West, as it must, we have prepared the following table, to show the aggregate quantity of grain visible in store at the important grain centres and in transit on the lakes, canals and railroads of the country at the dates mentioned:

	Sept. 30, '71. Bushels.	Sept. 23, '71. Bushels.	Sept. 30, '70. Bushels.
Wheat	8,276,715	7,607,859	8,703,234

The Triennial Convention—Important Action on the Word "Regenerate" in the Baptismal Service.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 12.—The forenoon was devoted in the Triennial Convention to a jubilee in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Domestic and Foreign Missions of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States. In the afternoon a message was received from the House of Bishops, with the following resolution:

Resolved, That the declaration of the Bishops of this Church, this day signed in Council, be entered upon the minutes of this House, and communicated to the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies, for the information of that body, concerning the action of their Bishops in a matter deemed to be of much interest to both Houses of the General Convention.

The declaration of the Bishops in Council, Oct. 11, 1871, is as follows:

"We, the subscribers, Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, being asked, in order to the quieting of the consciences of sundry members of the same Church, to declare our convictions as to the meaning of the word "regenerate" as used in the Baptismal Office, do hereby state that we have always understood, and now understand, the word to be used in the Baptismal Office as meaning that the person baptized is by Baptism regenerated, or born again of water and the Holy Ghost, and that we have always used, and now use, the Baptismal Office in that sense and meaning."

This declaration is signed by all the Bishops. The hour of 9 o'clock having arrived, the Convention adjourned to 10 o'clock to-morrow.

THE WEATHER.

Synopsis of Events and Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—1 A. M.—The low barometer which was, Wednesday night, off the middle Atlantic coast, has moved northward over Massachusetts, and north-east to the Bay of Fundy, with heavy rain on the New-England coast, followed, however, at the present hour by clear weather and north-easterly winds. [illegible] winds have also set [illegible] visited in the Middle States, but have been mostly westerly. The high pressure of Wednesday morning has moved eastward and is now central over Virginia, with clear weather at all points east of Michigan and Missouri. Cloudy weather is reported from Iowa and Nebraska, with fresh southerly winds. Easterly winds with cloudy weather has prevailed on the coast of Texas. The temperature has risen decidedly from the lower lakes and Ohio valley westward.

PROBABILITIES.

Clear weather and rising barometer are probable for Friday in the Middle and Eastern States; partially cloudy weather, with easterly winds, in the Southern and Gulf States; falling barometer and south-easterly winds west of Mississippi; rising temperature, southerly winds and threatening weather on the upper lakes and westward to the Missouri River.

Judge E. C. BILLINGS, of New-Orleans; Congressman OAKES AMES, of North Easton; Congressman J. R. DUTCHER, of Pawling, and Gen. J. L. SWIFT, of Boston, are at the Fifth-avenue Hotel.

Gen. GEO. A. MERRILL, Superintendent of the New-London and Northern Railroad of Connecticut; Gen. S. L. FRENCH, of Boston; and Commodore R. B. LOWRY, of the United States Navy, are at the Gleuham Hotel.

WALTER FISHER, aged twenty-eight, of No. 1,959 Third-avenue, while at work on the new school building in Fifth-street, fell from the second story of the building, yesterday, and was severely injured.

FRANK SPANGER, aged sixty-five years, a piano-maker, was found dead, yesterday afternoon, in his workshop, in the rear of No. 78 Bar-row-street. As SPANGER had been missing since Monday last, he is supposed to have been dead for several days.

Capt. GEORGE W. LEACH, charged with scuttling the ship Bulwyse, which he was sailing between Guano Islands and Farnsworth, South America, and with a fierce crime, accused of complicity, were yesterday discharged by Commissioner OSBORN.

The Colombo Guard, an Italian rifle organization, yesterday celebrated at Jones' Wood, the three hundred and seventy-ninth anniversary of the discovery of this continent by CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS. The affair attracted a large attendance of the Italian population.

JAMES MCDONALD and MATTHEW M. BRADLEY, two shoe-makers, quarreled yesterday at No. 35 Warren-street, during which MCDONALD stabbed BRADLEY in the abdomen with a knife, inflicting a wound which, it is feared, will prove fatal. BRADLEY was taken to the Park Hospital, and MCDONALD was arrested.

The anniversary of the birthday of CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS was appropriately celebrated yesterday at Grammar School No. 11, in West Seventeenth-street. Very interesting exercises were participated in by the pupils under the Principal, Mr. ALONZO HOPPER. PISANI'S bust of COLUMBUS was exhibited for the first time. Addresses were made by several gentlemen.

JAMES FISK, Jr., and JAY GOULD, of Erie notoriety, were offered as surities before Commissioner OSBORN, yesterday, on the appeal in the Admiralty suit of the ship Julia, owned by JAMES PINTON, against the steamer Bristol, but were refused on the ground that they were pecuniarily interested in the latter vessel. In the trial of the suit a decision was entered against the Bristol for $34,000 damages.

THOMAS CONNORS and PATRICK MALONE boarded at No. 229 East Thirty-fourth-street. They had some difference, and agreed to settle it by a pugilistic encounter on Tuesday last. After a few moments wasted in preliminary sparring, MALONE seized CONNORS and threw him violently to the ground, dislocating his neck, and causing injuries which resulted in his death, at Bellevue Hospital, on Wednesday night.

On Monday next will be launched from the dry dock of Messrs. LAURENSON & FOULKE, of Greenpoint, the new steam-boat Marion, built for the Normands Steam-boat Company. She is constructed of the very best material, measures 160 feet keel, and 175 feet over all, 21 feet beam and 8 feet 6 inches depth of hold. Her engines are made by Messrs. FLETCHER & HARRISON, and are 44 inches cylinder and 9 feet stroke; she will cost upward of $50,000.

LONG ISLAND.

A man named D. CAMPBELL, employed by Mr. J. C. C. HENDUSON, coal and wood merchant in Jamaica, had his thumb and forefinger cut off by a circular saw, while sawing kindling-wood, on Tuesday last.

At a meeting of the Hunter's Point Lodge of United American Mechanics, held Monday night, WILLIAM VELSOR, a member of the Order, dropped dead while speaking. Coroner TRWKSBURY, being present, allowed the body to be removed to the home of the deceased.

STATEN ISLAND.

The Drainage Commissioners of Southfield and Westfield will hold a meeting at the Vanderbilt Hotel, Clifton, today.

The little boy, JOSEPH DEGANGASS, who was so severely injured on Tuesday afternoon by the Staten Island Railroad train running over him, died last night.

NEW-JERSEY.

WM. H. EYLES yesterday attempted to shoot Ex-Alderman GOSKEN, of Newark.

A man named MITCHELL fell from the Newark and New-York Railroad Bridge, at Ferry-street, Newark, on Thursday night, and was picked up yesterday morning in an insensible condition.

Col. SCOVILL, of Camden, has received a challenge to fight a duel with a gentleman whose name is not mentioned. The invitation was declined, and the Colonel threatened to hand the party over to the Police. The difficulty grew out of something said by Col. SCOVILL in one of his campaign speeches.

ASHBURY says he is here on business, and that business is to carry back the Queen's Cup to England. Our friend KNOX, the great Hatter, at No. 212 Broadway, says he means business, too, and his business is to furnish the noblest, most stylish and excellent hats to all who may desire such, and at the lowest prices. The hatters are envious of KNOX. They don't know how he does it, but he does—sell better hats than any of them, and for less money.
